'A quote or not à quote?'

Mrs. Margaret Duprey, outspoken and well-known community activist in Romulus, claims she was misquoted in last week's story about the "Topless bar" public hearing.

"I didn't say what the Roman said I said," she explained.

In last week's Roman, Mrs. Duprey was quoted as saying "perhaps if the outside signs were removed, they would lose business."

What Mrs. Duprey says she said was: "The outside signs seem to have offended many people. If the signs were taken down, everyone would be happy."

"Mr. Nappo (the owner of the topless bar) has already established a clientele and the people who are offended by the signs would be happy because the signs were taken down and the owner would still have his business," Mrs. Duprey told the Roman.

July 4 parade floats needed

Elias Brothers' Big Boy Character and the Belleville Strawberry Festival Queen are the latest entries in the 7th annual Fourth of July parade in Romulus.

"We're especially happy to have these two new entries and look for more to enter our parade — and we especially need more floats for the parade," said Rita McLenon, co-chairman of the annual event.

More than 50 entries will walk and ride in the parade and Mrs. McLenon may be called at 941-0666, ext. 242 for details. Parade entries will line up at city hall parking lot at 10 a.m. on July 4.

The parade will begin at noon and march west on Goddard Road to Five Points and Kennedy Park. A family picnic will follow in the afternoon at Elmer Johnson Park with fireworks planned after dark at Johnson Park.

Carriers to collect

The carrier boy or girl, who delivers your Associated Newspaper to your door each week, will be calling on you this week to collect $1.25 for the month of June.

You can help them make a profit by making a prompt payment, but be sure you receive a receipt. This insures that only an authorized carrier is collecting.

Miss Minges goes to Lansing

Miss Michigan Teenager of 1981, Rebecca Minges, will be the guest of her State Representative, Edward E. Mahalak (D) Romulus, for a visit to the State Capitol on June 23.

During her visit, Miss Minges, will be officially presented a resolution of tribute from the Michigan Legislature. The resolution was sponsored by Mahalak.

Miss Minges, of New Boston, was selected Miss Michigan Teenager at a pageant early in May at Plymouth. The contestants from throughout the State were judged on the basis of scholastic achievement, leadership, ability, poise and appearance.

At age 16, she is the youngest person ever chosen for the honor. She will be the Michigan representative in the Miss Teenage USA Pageant to be held this summer in Florida.

"Those of us in the 38th District are very proud of Rebecca Minges, and we wish her every success in the national contest," Mahalak said. "She will be an outstanding representative of Michigan teenagers."

Miss Minges is to be accompanied to Lansing by Huron Township Supervisor Richard Sullivan.

A member of the National Honor Society, Miss Minges is President of her junior class at Huron High School. Since January, she has been volunteering her time with Huron Township, particularly in the Treasurer's office.

In wake of millage defeat

Schools take a serious look at finance picture

Local school officials today were trying to piece together their very clouded financial picture in the wake of last week's disastrous election results.

Additional millages were defeated soundly and in most areas, leaving the future of programs and schools clouded.

Romulus School Superintendent William Bedell outlined for the Board of Education some of district's options and prospects in the wake of the defeat of a request for additional 4.5 mills has been rejected by the voters. Bedell pointed out that the likelihood of the State of Michigan finding some solution to Romulus' problem is highly improbable.

"As a matter of fact, the State Budget Director has indicated that there is a distinct possibility there will be further executive orders during the coming school year, which would reduce local school district's state revenue even more," Bedell told the Board.

He pointed to several procedures they can follow. His first was that they need to make further reductions in the non-program/non-instructional areas. "We've already made considerable reductions in these areas, but it is obvious that we have no choice but to go further he pointed out.

"We will look at the custodial, security guard, administrative, travel, expense accounts, capital outlay and all of those expenditures that do not directly affect classroom instructions to make further reductions. This won't be easy and the school district cannot afford to do this repeatedly year after year."

Bedell's analysis indicated that the Board could perhaps reduce expenditures an additional $500,000 for the school year starting in September in those non-instructional areas.

He said that this is still woefully short of the money needed to balance the budget and avoid a cash flow problem. Bedell further pointed out, "If the State is unable to help us and our reductions in the non-instructional areas are maximized, the Board's only other choice would be to consider trying for an additional millage vote again."

"Summer millage elections are usually ineffective and elections held after school starts give the staff and Board of Education a tremendous budgeting planning problem."

Bedell described for the Board the cuts that have been implemented already to date. "We have already cut close to the bone. Since last fall, we have eliminated 23 non-teaching positions, 58 teaching and 3 administrative positions. We are rapidly running out of budget areas to cut," the Romulus school supt. said.

County charter goes to Milliken

Chief executive in county's future?

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

The smoke is settling from the hard-fought battles between Detroit-based Charter Commissioners and their suburban counterparts in drafting a proposed Home Rule Charter for Wayne County.

And while the recently-completed proposed charter is not completely acceptable to everyone, two local Charter Commissioners are very pleased with the results of the six months of hard work by the 27-member panel.

"I think it's the greatest thing that ever happened to Wayne County," said Roman Tafelski of Inkster, Charter Commissioner of the 21st District. "But that's predicated on the County Executive Officer being elected by the people and not appointed."

Actually, there will be two proposed charters presented to the public for their decision. Both the documents contain the exact same provisions, except one calls for a County Executive Officer (CEO) elected to a 4-year term by the people. The other version calls for the CEO to be appointed to a 4-year term by a majority of the Board of Commissioners.

Bart Berg, of Canton Township, Charter Commissioner for the sprawling 27th District, the largest in Wayne County, calls the proposed charter "a big step forward in county government."

The 27 Charter Commissioners completed their work June 16 after six months of arduous labor and debate over their work June 16 after six months of arduous labor and debate over numerous issues. The final vote on the charter was 17 yes, 7 abstentions, 2 no votes and one absent. All seven abstentions were by Detroit Charter Commissioners who were greatly upset because the number of County Commissioners was reduced from 27 to 15 in the new charter.

In fact, one Detroit Charter Commissioner was so irate that he threatened a court lawsuit to stop the proposed charter from being voted on this fall. However, he was informed that his efforts would have little chance of success and has apparently dropped the idea of challenging the issue in court.

Berg and Tafelski were overwhelmingly in agreement on most provisions of the proposed charter. But they disagreed strongly on the number of County Commissioners that should represent Wayne County.

Tafelski would have liked at least 21, while Berg felt the number could have been reduced to nine.

"If you have too few County Commissioners, you have too powerful a County Executive Officer," Tafelski contends. "The CEO would be 'unreachable' under that setup, much like the Drain Commissioner is now. And we certainly

Proposed convention complex builders receive tax break

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

City Council overwhelmingly approved a 50 percent tax break for 12 years for a $50 million Convention Center and business complex proposed for Wick Road just west of Merriman in Romulus.

The project — which Mayor William Oakley calls a "real shot in the arm for the city" — received the tax break on a 6-1 vote, with Councilman Edward Rush dissenting.

Councilman Fred Junior Block made the motion for the tax abatement and was supported by Gerry Canejo. Councilmen Jimmie C. Raspberry, Richard Yeramian, Ray Cantrell and Mary Ann Banks approved the decision.

The convention center and business office complex is planned by National Properties Company for a 53-acre site on Wick Road near several existing motels by Merriman and I-94. Wick Road is unpaved and there is no sewer to service the proposed site.

In discussing the resolution to approve the tax exemption, Mayor Oakley and Council brought up the issue of no sewer and the possible paving.

"The city is under no obligation to put in sewers," Oakley told Council. "However, I feel it's in the best interests of the city to put in sewers and pave the streets."

Councilman Raspberry agreed with the existing possibilities of the new project — but stopped short of committing the city to paving and sewers.

"I have no difficulty with the 12-year tax abatement but I must be totally candid," said the veteran Councilman. "When it comes to a free ticket, you can count me out," he said, looking directly at Elliott C. Schubiner, the developer representing the project.

Council and the mayor discussed possible ways of improving the proposed site on Wick Road.

"Our best bet may be a special assessment district," Oakley suggested.

Raspberry and Cantrell both said they had been told by representatives of the company that the city administration promised them free sewer taps.

At the first presentation of the proposed development, the company's architect said publicly that free sewer taps had been promised, Raspberry said.

"The architect told us at the first presentation of the proposed project that the city administration had prepared an ordinance, ready to submit to City Council, which would waive sewer connection fees for each room," Raspberry said. Raspberry said he and Councilman Ray Cantrell walked up to the architect after the meeting to confirm that statement.

"As Mr. Cantrell and I talked with the architect, I asked him if I heard him correctly about the free sewer connections and he said it was true," Raspberry said.

Councilman Rush was upset that no progress had been reported on the big convention center project in the past two months.

"On April 28, we approved this Commercial Redevelopment District. But two months have gone by and if this was such a hot project, why hasn't something been done?" Rush inquired.

"I feel that Mr. Schubiner misread this council. We are willing to cooperate but we should hold off until we see some commitment that the project will be built."

Rush asked that the tax abatement be granted on the stipulation that the proposed project be built as planned and that the break commence upon start of construction.

City Attorney Chuck Lowther informed Council that it could rescind the tax abatement within two years if nothing had been done towards starting construction of the project.

City seeks police slogan

What would be the best slogan for the new Romulus Police Department to carry on its cars?

Mayor William M. Oakley is offering a $50 savings bond to the person whose slogan is judged the best. People entering the contest are urged to keep their slogan to three or four words for the most impact.

Deadline for submitting slogans to the mayor's office at city hall, 11111 S. Wayne Road is June 30. The winner will be announced in the Romulus Roman on July 15.

AARON BUTLER

He's accused of torching his church

Rev. Butler is bound over for trial

Aaron Butler, a 40-year-old Inkster minister, has been bound over to Circuit Court for trial on two counts of felony arson resulting from a fire at his church last year.

Inkster Judge John McCartney

directed Butler to the higher court following three days of examination last week on charges of burning insured property and also burning uninsured property.

An arraignment date of July 10 was set.

Pastor of the Missionary Baptist Church, 4081 Isabelle, Butler earlier had been arrested by the Michigan State Police Arson squad and remanded to jail in lieu of $20,000 bond after standing mute to the charges before out-county Judge Leo Foran.

According to state police sources, the motive for the alleged arson was $400,000 in insurance money the church was to receive for fire damages. State police reported that the money had been paid to the church.

The Missionary Baptist Church was destroyed by fire on March 17, 1980. At that time fire officials had said the fire was caused by arson.

Suspect arrested in fatal hit & run case

A 23-year-old Canton man is to appear in court last week to answer to charges that he drove the vehicle that killed a teenage Plymouth Township boy.

The defendant, Michael Smith, 23, of Canton, was scheduled to appear before Judge Dunbar Davis in the 35th District Court to answer to charges of leaving the scene of a fatal accident.

Arraignment was scheduled for 2:30 at the courthouse located at 201 Main Street.

Smith is accused of driving the vehicle that hit and killed Bascom Belton on May 27. Belton died of the injuries the following day at St. Mary's Hospital.

According to Lt. Dan Carpenter of the Plymouth Police Department, Smith was picked up by police last week and released pending further investigation.

"The vehicle he (Smith) had that night was that of a friend's and is definitely the vehicle that struck and killed the victim," Lt. Carpenter said. "Smith was arrested and charged with leaving the scene of a fatal accident."

The Belton youth had been killed late at night on Joy Rd. and Tavislock. According to police investigation, Bascom and a friend had been crossing Joy Road from a party store in the Pine Tree Shopping Center when Bascom was struck by the vehicle, suffering fatal injuries.

Although the victim's friend couldn't identify the driver of the hit-and-run vehicle, he managed to get an excellent description of the vehicle and gave it to

Reward program grows as aid to arson arrests

Intent on revenge, a former employee started a fire that destroyed commercial property worth $2 million.

Hoping to collect the insurance, an owner burned down his $60,000 home. Bent on malicious destruction, three juveniles set fire to their school causing $1,000 damage.

All three of these cases of arson occurred in Michigan last year. But, because of a six-year old reward program, all the guilty parties were arrested. The concerned citizens who tipped police to the criminal activity earned $1,800 in rewards paid by insurance companies through the state's Arson Control Committee.

Started in 1975, the reward program has brought the arrest of 108 arsonists while paying out nearly $25,000, including $7,600 last year.

"We believe that someone other than the arsonists knows or has serious suspicions about the origins of nearly all such fires," said Terry N. Buckles, president of the Michigan Association of Insurance Companies (MAIC). "The reward program was initiated to encourage them to report their suspicions."

"We are very encouraged by the growing success of the program and are seeking to make it known to everyone in the state. As awareness grows, we think the program will serve as an increasingly effective deterrent because potential arsonists will realize that someone may inform authorities."

The program offers up to $1,000 for information leading to arrest and/or conviction on arson-related charges including persons who incite or conspire to commit arson, even if no fire occurred.

Set by the Arson Control Committee, the amount of the reward is based on the value of the information, personal risk to the informant, nature and severity of the loss or potential loss and other factors. The program is designed to protect the identity of the person reporting the crime, if he or she desires.

Information can be provided Arson Control by either a collect call to (517) 322-0469 or a letter to P.O. Box 23, Holt, MI 48842.

Thousands of red and black posters providing basic information on the reward program are being distributed throughout the state and the phone number is prominently listed in phone directories of 40 large Michigan cities.

Romulus gears up for annual 'Downtown Days'

Plans are underway for the annual 2-day "Romulus Downtown Days" extravaganza on July 17 and 18.

Romulus Central Business District Association, sponsor of the event, hopes this will be the biggest and best ever. "We had a fantastic success last year, even though we faced the crisis of the big July 16 storm," said Mrs. Joyce Palmer, secretary and spokesperson for the group.

"The area has been expanded to include all of Goddard Road between Wayne Road and Five Points."

The "Romulus Downtown Days" is highlighted each year by the Romulus Rotary annual chicken barbeque dinner. The feast will be held this year from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, July 18 at Kennedy Park on Goddard Road at Five Points.

The dinners will cost $3.50 and include half-a-chicken, baked beans, cole slaw, potato chips and soft drink or coffee. Tickets may be purchased from downtown merchants or from Rotary Club members or by calling Rotary President Gordon Silvey at 941-2488 or Dinner Chairman Bill Bowden at 721-6414.

Mrs. Palmer said that anyone interested in selling their crafts or baked goods still had time to obtain good spaces to do business. "We still have some excellent locations available and there is no charge for use of the space," she said.

"The RCBDA Committee will be glad to assist everyone. For information interested persons may call Lou Blitz at Romulus Auto Supply at 941-1727 or Tony Kopas at Romulus Hardware at 941-0323.

"Romulus Downtown Days" will feature bargain sales from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday, July 17. On Saturday, July 18, there will be sidewalk sales, arts and crafts, baked goods for sale, auctions, food and beverages from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. A highlight of Saturday's entertainment will be a stree dance from 8 p.m. until midnight, featuring the music of Bobby Messer and the Michigan Countrymen.

"We want everyone to come and join in two great days of great bargains, fun, excitement and entertainment in the heart of Romulus," Mrs. Palmer said.

"One of the most exciting parts of the 2-day event is when the streets are blocked off and the street dance is held from 8 p.m. until midnight on the closing night of the event."

Sidewalk sales will be featured on both days, plus all the other excitement in a carnival-like atmosphere. The annual extravaganza gets bigger every year and Romulus residents are urged to make this year's event the greatest ever.

For sheriff's patrols

Wayne County Charter Commissioner Roman Tafelski was a strong and successful advocate of maintaining the Wayne County Sheriff's patrol of county parks in the language of the proposed new Wayne County Charter. Completed last week (June 16), the charter has been sent to Lansing for approval by Governor William Milliken. It could appear on the Wayne County ballot for voter approval as early as November. If adopted, the new blueprint of government for the county will become effective January 1, 1983.

His new business has designs

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus-born man says he has always loved this city and has returned to the community of his birth to start an ornamental design company.

He's Larry Boelter, an industrious 38-year-old businessman, who has renovated a building at 37371 Northline Road at Huron River Drive to sell a large variety of wrought iron items.

"We're a small local company that offers quality items," says Boelter, who opened his shop two weeks ago. "Each job is specially designed, fabricated and installed to blend in with and enhance the area in which it goes."

His company — Ornamental Design — sells a wide variety of styles, ranging from traditional to contemporary. The materials also vary greatly to give patrons an opportunity for an individualized look. Materials include cast iron, steel, brass, aluminum and stainless steel.

"We highlight patio furniture," Boelter pointed out. "It has a lifetime guarantee, there's no winter storing and the furniture can be left outside all year long. It is easily cleaned with soap and water and will never rust.

"In addition, it is very comfortable to sit on and use. With summer here, now is a great time to consider buying beautiful patio furniture."

Boelter and his wife, Donna, run the business along with another part-time employee.

After being born in Romulus and living here his first four years, young Boelter moved to Van Buren Township, where his father built a very successful business — Boelter's Welding. In 1967, he took over his father's business and helped develop it.

"During the past 13 years, we have gotten into various other aspects of business and felt this was a good time to get into the selling of ornamental design patio furniture, columns and railings and custom-designed decorating for the exterior of homes and businesses."

He said the ornamental designs are not only beautiful for looks, but are very functional as security storm doors and windows.

Boelter, who ran for Van Buren School Board in the past, is very community-minded. He and his wife are committed to becoming a vital part of the growth of business and civic life in Romulus.

"We really love Romulus," Boelter related. "That's why we chose to return here and make it the place of our new business. We hope the people of this area will drop in and let us show them how we can beautify their homes and businesses with custom-designed, maintenance-free ornamental decorations and patio furniture."

Charter commissioners' ordeal ends

facilities, much like hospitals such as Oakwood, St. Mary's and Henry Ford do now.

"There could be a satellite in the middle of Detroit, for example. Medical care facilities — more than one — is the key," the outspoken Berg stressed. "Easy access and availability is something that can be accomplished."

Berg said the Charter Commission had to fight hard to keep the name — Wayne County General Hospital — from being included in the charter.

"We warded off six hours of debate by 'do-gooders' to keep the language the way we wanted it," Berg said. "Wayne County General Hospital administration and operation is stinko — very poor — and the County Commissioners have been no better in their ability to change things."

"Under the new charter, the County Executive Officer along with the County Commissioners will select the type of management for operation at the public county hospital facilities. Everyone wanted to keep the name Wayne County in the charter and we had to fight off all efforts of do-gooders like Blue Cross, Citizen's Research, Wayne County Task Force and Greater Detroit Hospital Association.

"So much of the time these groups seem to be trying to tell other people what is best for them, rather than letting the people determine what is best for themselves," Berg said.

Tafelski pointed out that County Commissioners will receive a salary of approximately $16,000 annually, but will not receive Cost of Living Adjust or any other compensation. They will still be elected for 2-year terms.

The two areas of concern, Berg said, were the issues of the Drain Commissioner and Road Commission. He said Gov. William Milliken, who has to sign the proposed charter before it goes to a vote of the people, could possibly reject it.

"I'm not saying which way Gov. Milliken will vote on the proposed charter," Berg said. "But I know the Drain Commission and Road Commission are two strong concerns of his and they have remained virtually intact."

"He's going to have to swallow hard to approve the charter in light of those two issues," Berg pointed out.

The proposed charter goes to Lansing to be approved by the Governor and Attorney General Frank Kelley. Then a date will be established for the document to be placed on the ballot for a vote by the people. Berg said that since Detroit has an election in November the charter could possibly be voted on at that time. Suburban communities would have to call a special election to vote on it then.

Another item Tafelski is happy about is the County Sheriff's Department which will patrol all county parks, including Hines Park.

"I fought for that and I'm pleased at the results. I said I would battle to the end for them and I did," Tafelski said.

Tafelski said he did not think the Road

Commission would prove to be a stumbling block to Gov. Milliken approving the charter. "The 3-member Road Commission will be appointed by the County Executive Officer for 4-year terms to run concurrently with him," the Inkster businessman said.

Berg agreed, saying: "Members of the Road Commission will be appointed by the CEO and serve at his pleasure rather than being appointed by the County Commissioners. Commissioners can have no input as to the appointment or dismissal of Road Commission appointees."

Berg was concerned about the power and authority given the County Clerk under the new charter. "The County Clerk by virtue of this charter will be given the power to supervise and control

2,000 attend Romulus High commencement exercises

Romulus Senior High School commencement was held June 11 on the school's athletic field and an estimated crowd of over two thousand people attended the ceremony under beautiful sky and mild weather.

Romulus Senior High School band under the direction of Henry James played the traditional pomp and circumstance followed by the invocation by the Rev. Lonnie England of Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus.

Principal Joel Carr welcomed the crowd and introduced platform guests: Board President Wayne Avery; Vice President Michael Woods; Secretary Shirley Lombardi; Treasurer Jo Ann Marvisin and Trustees Richard Campbell, Evelyn Hopewell, and Theresa Kraft and her husband Ron.

The Salutatorian this year was Jeffrey Tyer and there were three Valedictorians, Mary Carpenter, Carrol Peterson and Shannon Rhodes. All four gave brief inspirational speeches to their classmates congratulating them on their graduation and urging them to higher achievements later in life.

School Superintendent Dr. William M. Bedell gave an address titled, "Challenge of the 80's." Bedell congratulated the parents for having survived the "ordeal" of bringing a senior through 13 years of school and went on to describe for the graduating class some of the world they are about to enter.

"The impact of computerization, the trend for people to be moving to the sunbelt, the potential destructiveness of war and a number of other worldly challenges confront you graduates," he said.

He went on to say, however, "that in many ways, today's graduates are uniquely trained to meet those challenges and as a matter of fact they're superior to the generations that preceded them."

He explained that young people today are stronger, healthier with more of them achieving a higher level of education than in the past. He ended his comments by reading a short excerpt from the life of long distance swimmer, Florence Chadwick.

Their work is completed

George Ward President of the Charter Commission (center) announces to the news media and public last week that the proposed charter for Wayne County has been completed and is ready to be sent to Gov. William Milliken for his signature. The proposed charter, which calls for county voters to choose between an elected and appointed Chief Executive Officer, could be placed on the ballot as soon as November.

Romulus Federal-Mogul unveils $13.5 million expansion plan

112 new jobs expected to be created

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A $13.5 million expansion program at the Federal-Mogul Corporation plant in Romulus is expected to add 112 new jobs to the work force and invigorate the sluggish economic climate.

Romulus City Council was to consider the corporation's application for an Industrial facilities Exemption Certificate at last night's regular meeting. The certificate would provide a 50 percent tax break for any period of time up to 12 years, whichever Council specifies.

City Council already approved the establishing of an Industrial Development District for the company that would provide the tax abatement under Public Act 198 of 1974.

James Zamoyski, assistant treasurer for Federal-Mogul, told city officials that they expected to break ground any day now for the huge expansion project. The proposed 80,000 square foot addition will cost an estimated $4 million, while equipment and land improvements will run another $8.5 million.

The plant is on Smith Road at Midlebelt Road and located in the city in July 1978, according to Industrial Coordinator Hyle Carmichale. principal products produced by Federal-Mogul Corporation are grouped into three segments — vehicle and machinery components, aerospace components and fastening systems. These products are sold in the five major markets of engine and transmission products; ball and roller bearings; sealing devices; precision forged products; ball and roller bearings; sealing devices; precision forged products and aerospace and fastening systems.

In submitting the application for the tax break, Federal-Mogul stated that the new building would be constructed of block and steel. "The intended use of this facility is for the production of certain precision components for original equipment manufacturers as well as aftermarket distribution. Such components include automatic transmission parts," corporation officials stated.

According to company officials, land improvement will cost $147,000. Cost of the new building will be $4,018,000 and machinery and equipment will run $8,577,000. Furniture and fixtures will cost an additional $712,000. Total estimated cost of the entire project is $13,454,000.

The new equipment will be phased in over a two-year period. Most expensive of a long list of equipment is Sinta Forge Lines that will be added in 1982 at a projected cost of $1,200,000. Sintering Belts will also be installed in 1982 at an estimated cost of $920,000.

I.D. Grinders will be entered into service in 1982 and 1983 at a projected cost of $990,000 each year.

In his letter to city officials, Zamoyski stated: "At this time, Federal-Mogul Corp. will own the building. However, at some future date the building may be sold and leased-back to Federal-Mogul Corp."

"Federal-Mogul Corp. will continue to be fully liable for all the real and personal property taxes even under the lease arrangement. If the lease-back situation arises, Federal-Mogul will submit to your office the lease agreement showing Federal-Mogul's continued tax obligation."

"According to the Michigan Department of Commerce, Office of Economic Development (Ms. Amalia Evola), the exemption will continue even if the building is subsequently switched to a lease arrangement as long as Federal-Mogul Corp. remains liable for all real and personal property taxes," Zamoyski's letter stated.

These young men are part of a group of Building Trades students at Romulus High School which recently completed a house from start to finish on Cogswell Road, valued at approximately $70,000. The public viewed the beautiful new home on two occasions at Open Houses and the school district is taking bids on the structure. Part of the work crew shown here include Kevin Hanlon

Jogging makes 83-year-old area resident feel like 21

Unlike other joggers, you won't find 83-year-old Lily Ann Carr running on outdoor footpaths or at the local gymnasium. She prefers to stay right inside her home — the Wayne Living Center Nursing Care facility.

Donning her favorite white, fuzzy slippers, Mrs. Carr takes a jaunt around the nursing home almost every day with the help of a staff member. "She just loves it," Activities Director, Joann Regits, says.

Mrs. Carr jogs about three laps up and down the facility's wings, around the nurses' station and then she cuts through the dining room. Other residents and staff members gather around and cheer her on. They laugh and join in on her fun.

After her feat, she isn't even winded. In her sweet, English accent, she says, smiling, "I'm 83 but I feel 21!"

Mrs. Carr's enthusiasm to get up and go would make anyone think twice about her age. "She likes to get into anything.

She's pretty active," Ms. Regits pointed out.

Besides jogging, Mrs. Carr loves to dance with the nurses and nurse technicians at the facility. "I love to dance anytime," she exclaimed. "It's good for you."

Born in New Castle, England, Mrs. Carr came from a large family. She had 14 brothers and sisters, including two sets of twins. "I was in-between all of them," she explained.

Her father owned three cinemas and six pubs in England. Mrs. Carr waitressed and eventually sang in one of the pubs when she was a teenager. She was also a cashier at one of her father's theaters and sang during the silent movies playing there.

It wasn't long before her singing days were replaced with days of being a wife and mother. She married the late Thomas Fanieck Carr and moved with him to Detroit in 1924. Five years later, they had a son, John Lewin.

Having a child didn't limit Mrs. Carr's ambitious nature. She went to work as a housekeeper with the Department of Education.

Because of failing health, Mrs. Carr moved to the Living Center about three months ago to receive specialized nursing care. She says she didn't mind because she continues to do whatever she did before but now it's with lots more friends.

"It's like a big family here," she commented. "I love everyone."

And her love is returned by the Living Center staff and by other residents whom she has become friends with. Like many others, they've discovered that Mrs. Carr's zest for life is contagious.

At 83, she jogs

At age 83, Lily Ann Carr, a resident of the Wayne Living Center Nursing Care, jogs around the nursing home with the help of Reneau Vandergraaf, a nurse technician.

PCHA gets grant

Study aimed at hospital efficiency

Annapolis Hospital in Wayne is one of only seven hospitals nationwide to be selected as participant in a $3 million research grant for the purpose of developing tools to measure how well a hospital is run and managed.

As a demonstration site in the research project, the hospital will seek to find ways of measuring the resources it uses to provide care to different types of patients. It is expected that when the project is complete, the hospital will be able to determine its cost of providing care by specific diagnoses.

A micro-processor computer will be purchased and a project coordinator hired to work with the management staff to compile data that will be used in measuring hospital productivity. The project will result in the development of planning and budgeting systems to assure that patient needs are being met with optimum financial efficiency.

Annapolis' share of the grant totals $120,000 over a 3-year period. The research is being financed principally by the Kellogg Foundation and Duke Endowment Fund. The grant is being funneled through the Hospital Research and Educational Trust of the American Hospital Association.

Annapolis is the only demonstration site in Michigan, and the only one that is part of a multi-hospital system. The Wayne hospital is one of the five hospitals owned and operated by the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA).

As a multi-hospital system, PCHA has the unique opportunity to use the management tools developed at Annapolis at its other four hospitals as well. During the testing phase, the other PCHA units will serve as controls against which the Annapolis experience can be measured. The other PCHA hospitals are uniquely qualified to serve as controls because variables normally found among other hospitals, such as different administrative structure, policies and practices, are eliminated.

The other PCHA hospitals are Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, Heritage hospital in Taylor, Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park, and Seaway Hospital in Trenton.

The selection of Annapolis as a demonstration site was announced at the recent meeting of the PCHA Board of Directors, where board Chairman Donald J. Pizzimenti commented that the Authority is pleased at being one of only seven hospitals selected for the project.

"This is a real opportunity for us," he noted.

"If we are successful at Annapolis, the opportunity exists to use the same tools to compare our hospitals among ourselves."

"Because we are a multi-hospital system, this is a benefit that we alone can pursue among the demonstration hospitals."

"Here is a chance for PCHA to take part in a project that speaks to the very heart of the health care delivery system," Pizzimenti added. "We will be helping develop a methodology that will eventually guide us in running our hospitals efficiently, while maintaining high quality."

The project will be financed through grant funds, but the PCHA administrators realize that one "cost" to be borne by Annapolis Hospital itself will be in the time invested by the managers.

"We won't be allocating any of our funds per se to this project, but we have to realize that a project like this will take some time commitment from all department heads in order for us to get results," said Lawrence Riesser, Annapolis Hospital Administrator. "This hospital management team is willing to take the time and is pleased at being picked for the assignment."

The program is being initiated at the same time that PCHA is working on bringing on line its new data processing system. The two activities are expected to complement each other in development of a PCHA management information system.

Commission, Lucas stand 'toe-to-toe'

An eye-to-eye confrontation between Sheriff William Lucas and members of a special Ways and Means Subcommittee of Wayne County Commissioners Thursday seeking answers to jail overtime, a $22,000 bill for gasoline, the whereabouts of an escaped woman prisoner, and an accident in Oakland County involving a patrol car, remained largely unresolved today.

Commissioner James Rashid, who relinquished the chair to express his frustrations over the seemingly polarized thinking of Lucas and the commissioners succeeded in getting a motion approved that will reduce the day's activities to a report to be submitted to the State Treasurer's Office under the "General Appropriations Act" requiring the Attorney General's Office to decide whether the Sheriff's expenditures are legal or fraudulent.

"All we're doing is slapping hands, we need someone to make a decision," he added.

"It appears to me this is a game of one-upmanship," commented Commissioner Arthur B. Blackwell. "I need a bromo. . . I'm getting a stomach-ache just thinking about this mess. First the judge supports us, then the arbitrator supports the Sheriff. . . I think the courts have been a bind all along. The saddest thing is the deputies and their families have had to suffer."

Agency offers low-income family energy bill aid

If you meet the economic criteria, the Wayne Metropolitan Community Services Agency will help defer and pay your energy bills.

The WMCSA has two federally-funded programs: Emergency Energy Assistance (EEA) and Energy Crisis Intervention (E-CIP) that are designed to help low-income families.

To be eligible for benefits, a person must: Meet low-income guidelines; have an energy-related emergency, that is, have a 30 day past due gas bill, have a utility shut-off and be directly responsible for energy bills.

E-CIP also provides short-term aid to persons with energy-related emergencies and has established 12 "Energy Closets" which have provided space heaters (on a loan basis), blankets, and warm clothing to low-income households without heat.

E-CIP also will be distributing educational material on energy topics to the public and will be installing energy-saving devices in low-income homes throughout the summer.

Help is still available to those with delinquent fuel bills through Emergency Energy Assistance, which so far has provided 2,400 households with approximately $200,000 worth of heating aid.

Persons applying should bring proof of income, heating and utility bill statements, and health insurance bill statements, if applicable. Once an applicant has exhausted EEA, she/he may still be able to receive fuel assistance through E-CIP.

For more information on home heating assistance, residents of Wayne County should call (313) 292-2110. Residents of the City of Detroit should call the Neighborhood Services Department at (313) 224-6800.

Groups or agencies interested in sponsoring an energy workshop should contact 292-2110 and ask for an Energy Advocate for further information.

Legislators give utilities 'green light' on increases

Legislators who rejected a bill that would ban automatic increases in utility rates "administered a stinging defeat to the utility ratepayers of Michigan," Attorney General Frank J. Kelley said today.

Reacting to a vote by members of the House Utilities Committee to reject a bill prohibiting automatic adjustment clauses, Kelley accused the lawmakers of giving a victory to utilities in general and the Consumers Power Company in particular.

One such automatic adjustment clause will enable Consumers Power to automatically pass along to customers the cost of expensive Algerian liquefied natural gas beginning next fall — increasing utility bills by 50 to 70 percent.

Kelley also said that the more than one million customers of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company should not feel secure in this matter because Michigan Consolidated has announced that it is negotiating for a 20 year supply of high cost Nigerian gas.

Kelley had urged that the legislation drafted by his staff and introduced by Representative Nick Ciaramitaro (D, Roseville) be approved by the committee. "Had the bill been approved by the committee and subsequently passed into law, Consumers Power and other utilities would not be able to get automatic increases, but would have to justify the need at open hearings of the Public Service Commission," Kelley said.

Attorney General Kelley appeared before the Utilities Committee Wednesday to urge adoption of the legislation. "The committee room was packed with lobbyists and executives from the utility companies," Attorney General Kelley said.

Instead of approving the substitute legislation, the Public Utilities Committee voted 7-0 against it. "The vote was a setback not only for the household but renders a serious blow to Michigan's business climate," Kelley said.

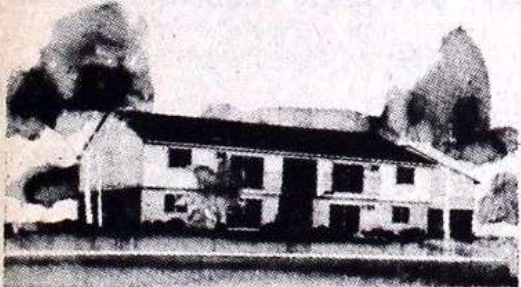

"There's no question that members of the committee were acting in the interest of the utility companies when they rejected this legislation," Kelley said.

Kelley further said that "the members of the committee are so out of tune with the people who elected them that they don't perceive these rate increases as a problem."

"This was evidenced by the statement of Representative Jack Gingrass of Iron Mountain," Kelley said, when Representative Gingrass stated "Gasoline prices have gone up and no one is complaining about that" and that the "annual heating bill will still be less than owning and operating a car." Kelley also cited a statement by Representative Edgar Geerlings of Norton Shores, near Muskegon, that heating a home next winter will be a "price bonanza."

WHY HAVE I BEEN GETTING SO MUCH UNORDERED, UNWANTED MAIL?

After a funeral it is not uncommon for unscrupulous persons to attempt fleecing you and thus adding money to their own pockets. These dishonest, cold-hearted individuals may send unauthorized, unwanted collect packages or fraudulent bills through the mail.

The people attempting these hoaxes will try to indicate that these items had been ordered before the death occurred.

Remember: collect packages do not have to be accepted; payment need not be made for items sent or billed without authorization. Statements and invoices should be checked carefully to be sure they are authentic.

If any questions arise, contact your attorney, the Better Business Bureau or the post office.

Pvt. Kissinger completes Marine recruit training

PVT. KISSINGER

Marine Pvt. James R. Kissinger, son of H. Ray and Geraldine Kissinger of 12008 Belleville Road, Belleville, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego. During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

Airman John L. Krueger, son of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Krueger of 40850 Tyler Road, Belleville, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft maintenance specialist course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Graduates of the course were trained in aircraft engine maintenance, repair and service, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Krueger will now serve at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., with the 60th Field Maintenance Squadron.

He is a 1980 graduate of Belleville High School.

son of Nancy A. Ruiz of 41276 N. Woodbury Drive, Belleville, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

are scheduled for enlistment in the regular Air Force on November 19, 1981 and March 8, 1982, respectively.

Upon completion of the Air Force's six week basic military training course at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, they will receive technical training as Aircraft Armament Systems Specialists.

They will be earning credits toward Associates Degrees through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and other Air Force technical training schools.

Army Pvt. Mark W. Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Hammond of 13425 Lenmore, Belleville, recently completed a tracked-vehicle mechanic course at the U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky.

During the course, students were trained to repair engines, transmissions, and the fuel, electrical and hydraulic systems of the Army's tracked vehicles. They also learned to perform recovery operations for abandoned, damaged, disabled or mired vehicles.

Commissioner charges

'Crimes against seniors are heinous'

Pointing to a pile of newspaper clippings in his office reporting crimes against senior citizens, Wayne County Commissioner William Runco today charged that current laws protecting seniors from these heinous offenses are far too weak.

"The commission of these crimes constitutes a very serious illness in our society which must be purged," Runco explained, "and we must act now by importing the state legislature to enact appropriate laws to provide mandatory sentencing of any persons convicted of a felony against a senior citizen."

A resolution to that effect, submitted by Runco, won board approval Thursday.

"It's a damned shame that the seniors of this country who are responsible for building and maintaining the values we enjoy must be the victims. It's bad enough to have to be constantly on guard against these cultures who are either too inept or too lazy to earn their own living, but to attack those incapable of defending themselves is abhorrent."

Mrs. Mary T. Novak of 1811 Hamlet Drive, and Mrs. Carol M. O'Hare of 1320 Ridge Road, and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gefre of 1050 Lore, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program, according to SSgt. Larry F. Howen, Air Force Recruiter.

Mrs. Novak and O'Hare are both graduates of Belleville High School, and

Lucas maintained he is mandated to provide patrol services and that "no judge has yet to tell me that I'm relieved of this responsibility."

Commissioner Mary Dumas, attempting to soothe the exchange between Rashid and Lucas, said, "the probable answer lies in negotiating a completely new contract. If both sides would admit there is no contract we could probably work out a new one that will allow the Sheriff to carry out his obligations.

Article 31 of the contract (the manning clause requiring the deputy staff be maintained at 1974 levels) is holding up everything. We also have an obligation and that is to operate the county within the 1980-81 budget which the commissioners voted to uphold."

In answer to Lucas' assertion that he has offered an "olive branch of peace" Rashid, reading a letter from the Sheriff, said, "I see no so-called olive branch, all I see is a threat. Your letter claims that unless we pay $1.5 million in backpay, $100,000 per week in overtime, and $150,000 for jail training that you will continue your 12-hour-a-day staffing. . . that's an olive branch?"

Items of interest concerning the escaped prisoner and the Oakland accident were passed to await the outcome of the Sheriff's trial board hearings. Rashid's motion will go before Ways and Means this week and the $22,000 oil bill awaits a report from the County's Corporation Counsel.

Deregulation

Moving may cost you more

Planning a move to a different home? The Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR) advises that it has become even more important to shop around before hiring a moving company.

New rulings by the Interstate Commerce Commission which took effect June 10 have brought changes that may raise or lower costs since your last move.

The rulings, part of the phased-in deregulation of the trucking industry, give moving companies wide latitude to raise or lower prices, offer incentives to customers, and engage in competitive marketing strategies.

Among the new guidelines are those stipulating movers:

- Can charge different rates for similar work.

- May offer binding estimates that fix cost of a move.

- Can use their own formula, rather than an ICC standard, to compute an estimate.

- Must keep in closer contact with the customer about pick-up and delivery dates. A mover must contact customers by telephone about a change in schedule, and shipments cannot be delivered earlier than the scheduled date without the customer's consent.

- Failing to perform on scheduled dates must compensate customers.

- Permit customers to observe weighing of the truck. Weight bumping, adding to estimated weight, is illegal.

Such changes from former practices can be expected to bring many innovative changes to the moving industry, said WWOCBR. In aiding home sellers and buyers, WWOCBR members suggest they secure estimates from a number of movers before making a decision.

They also recommend not making judgment on price alone, but to consider such things as guaranteed schedules, insurance coverage, packing methods, and how much might be saved by doing your own packing.

At least one major company has instituted three classes of moving, similar to air fare plans. Interstate Van Lines has a C Plan for scaled down service, pack-it-yourself, with no guarantee of pick-up and delivery dates; a B Plan which includes packing and more specific time schedules, and an A Plan with guaranteed pick-up and delivery dates, $12,000 liability and red carpet service on moving day.

The same company also has announced a plan to divide the space in its trucks into cubic foot compartments. Charges will be based on the number of cubes used and the miles traveled.

"We can expect to see a wider variance in costs under the new rules as well as a greater choice in the service provided," said the WWOCBR. "But, it may make the job of finding the best company to meet your requirements at the best price a bit more difficult."

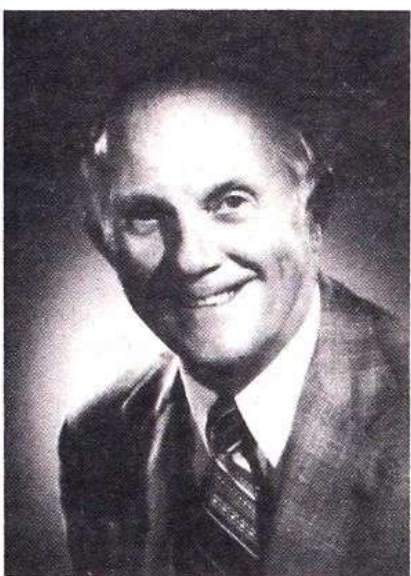

Demmer is elected Dearborn bank trustee

John E. Demmer recently was elected to the board of directors of Dearborn Bank and Trust Company at the annual shareholders meeting, according to J. Ralph Wagner, chairman of the board of directors. Demmer replaces Thomas H. Eurich who recently retired from the board after serving since 1974.

Demmer is president of Jack Demmer Ford Inc., an auto dealership in Wayne that he established in 1957. He also is president of Jack Demmer Leasing, Inc.

His numerous professional affiliations include directorships of the Metropolitan Detroit Ford Dealers' Association and of the Ford Dealers' Advertising Fund. He is a member of the Detroit Automobile Dealers' Political Action Committee and of the Michigan Automobile Dealers' Legislative Committee, as well as serving as a trustee for the Michigan Automobile Dealers' Workmen's Compensation Trust. His efforts on behalf of the industry have earned him the Ford Distinguished Achievement Award annually for the past 10 years.

Active for many years in both Dearborn and Wayne community affairs, Demmer is a past president of Dearborn Kiwanis, vice-president of Dearborn Centurions, a governor of the Fairlane Club, a trustee of the Msgr. Weier Charitable Fund, past president and presently a director of Wayne Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Wayne Economic Development Corporation.

Demmer graduated from Wayne State University with a bachelor of science in business administration and is a World War II Navy veteran.

He and his wife Margaret are longtime Dearborn residents and have six children.

Faust asks Reagan for more federal aid

Senate Majority Leader William Faust met with President Regan and three of his cabinet secretaries to lobby for increased federal aid to Michigan.

Faust met with the President, Secretary of Health and Human Services Richard Schweiker, Secretary of Education Terrel Bell and Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Samuel R. Pierce, Jr., as part of a delegation representing the National Conference of State Legislatures to discuss state related issues.

"In our meeting with President Regan and his cabinet officials, I emphasized the severity of Michigan's financial problems and the importance of continued federal assistance for our state," said Faust. "I particularly stressed the importance of two federal programs: Medicaid assistance and home heating funds.

"These two programs, which are currently scheduled to receive massive budget cuts under the President's budget proposal, provide vital aid for many Michigan citizens who are least able to fend for themselves," Faust said.

Faust said that the President was receptive, but non-committal, regarding the delegation's plea for additional federal aid to the states.

"I tried to impress upon the President that Michigan's financial difficulties are unique among the states, that we have already cut back our budget substantially because of our high unemployment rate and that Michigan traditionally receives the smallest return on federal tax dollars sent to Washington of all the states in the union," He said.

"Further cutbacks during our time of need would be particularly devastating."

Faust said that the president's budget cut proposal that would cap increases in Medicaid benefits at 5% per year ignores the reality of skyrocketing

Young couple joins chiropractic firm

A young married couple have joined a successful chiropractic firm in Romulus and hope to make it a lifetime occupation here.

Michael and Cynthia Shaft, who both received their Doctor of Chiropractic degrees in March, have joined the staff of her father, Dr. Ray Elwart, clinic director and founder of Romulus Chiropractic Clinic, 37511 Huron River Drive.

The couple, which graduated from Palmer College of Chiropractic in Davenport, Ia., have 11 chiropractors in their immediate family. Included in that number are Dr. Ray Elwart and Cynthia's brother, Dan Elwart, who also practices at the Romulus clinic, and Doctors Linda and Warren Atkinson, Cynthia's sister and brother-in-law, who practice in Chelsea, Mich.

"We really like it here in Romulus and plan to have our chiropractic career in this town," Dr. Shaft said. "We've bought a house in Romulus and plan to settle down here and serve the people for a long time."

The couple said they were very pleased to join the staff of the Romulus

Chiropractic Clinic, which has been established since 1963.

They met at a chiropractic convention in Atlanta, Ga. in 1974 and started dating then. They began their two years' pre-professional college in September 1975 at Henry Ford Community College.

Cynthia finished four years' of high school in only three years' time. They attended Grand Valley State College in Grand Rapids together for their second year of college. They enrolled at Palmer College in March 1978 and because of their accelerated learning program, which includes working through each summer, they were able to finish four academic years in three years' time.

Their son, Jeremy, 3, and Heather, 1, were both born at home and a third child is on the way, due sometime in the fall.

Michael, 25, served on the Student Council at Palmer College for three years and Cynthia, 22, was class secretary for a term.

They believe strongly in being community-minded and feel a commitment to having strong family ties. "We are both Christians and we love serving the Lord," Michael said.

McGrath named GM at Kelsey-Hayes

The appointment of Michael C. McGrath as General Manager of Kelsey Products Division has been announced by Birum G. Campbell, President of the Aftermarket Group, Kelsey-Hayes Company.

McGrath, who has been Sales Manager of the Division since 1978, joined the Company in 1968 and has held positions in Warehouse Management, Customer Relations, Marketing Services and Inventory Control at Kelsey Products. He also has been involved in Production Control and Sales in the Kelsey-Hayes OE Divisions.

McGrath earned his BA and MA in Business Administration at the University of Detroit.

Kelsey-Hayes, a subsidiary of the Detroit-based Fruehauf Corporation, is a major independent supplier of brakes and wheels to the passenger car and truck markets. The Company has over 20 million car and truck disc brake applications in service.

Fruehauf selects counseling chief

Joanne M. Roberts has been named Director - Counseling and Guidance for Fruehauf Corporation, announced Fruehauf Vice President - Industrial Relations Richard P. Helwig.

In her new position, Roberts will be responsible for the development and implementation of the corporation's employee guidance and counseling services, which include family counseling, substance abuse, mental health, and health care programs.

Previously, Robert served since 1978 as a counselor for Kelsey-Hayes Company, the Romulus-based subsidiary of Fruehauf Corporation.

She holds a Bachelor's Degree in Social Work from Eastern Michigan University, and a Master's Degree in social work from the University of Michigan.

A certified Social Worker in the State of Michigan, she is also a member of the National Association of Social Workers and the Michigan Association of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counselors.

Lamp and history

Pretty Tammy Kasprzycki was called upon to draw the winning ticket for a stained glass lamp that helped raise more than $150 for a historic cemetery in Inkster. The strawberry lamp, shown at the right, was offered in auction during, (when else?) Belleville's annual Strawberry Festival festivities.

Strawberry lamp aids historic site

You couldn't have found a better time or place to auction off a strawberry lamp, or a better cause. The time and place were during Belleville's annual Strawberry Festival and the cause was to raise money to help support and maintain the Union Chapel Cemetery, a historical burial ground located in Inkster. This small cemetery is run on donations and some of the graves date back to the early pioneer settlements. The stained strawberry glass, donated by R & R Stained Glass of Belleville, owned by Belleville's Randy Kempf and Bailey Kempf, was placed in auction during the three-day festivities in Belleville. And the ticket drawn by Canton's pretty Tammy Kasprzycki announced the winner to be Chester Wojcie, a Belleville resident. Wojcie and the Union Chapel were both winners as $162 went to the historical cemetery fund.

Noonchesters micro center is 'hot item'

Jerry J. Noonchester calls it a "very hot item." And the reason for the popularity of his microwave convenience center is the fact that it cuts down the amount of space wasted in kitchens. The center, which is actually a versatile wooden cabinet, is featured at the Jerry J. Custom Kitchens, located at 8241 Allen Road, Allen Park. The uppermost section of the cabinet will accommodate a microwave oven of any size, according to Noonchester, the product's inventor. Each of the convenience center's three models also can hold a small television set, creating a TV-video center. "A lot of women are forced to put the microwave on a counter, creating a loss of space," explained Noonchester owner of Jerry J. Custom Kitchens. The inventor said he conceived of the idea last December while talking with his wife, Pamela, and eventually acquired a patent on the product after drawing up five prototypes. A space rack is located just underneath the space allotted for the oven and immediately below that is a pull-out countertop that can hold up to 50 pounds. The top can be removed to leave a drawer for cookbooks and cooking utensils. Noonchester added that his convenience center is being distributed by Highland Appliance, Brothers Appliance and Worldwide Appliance in addition to Jerry J. Custom Kitchens in Allen Park. It also is being recommended by Tappan Appliances, he said.

They're 'hot' items

When you want a micro-wave oven and your space in the kitchen is very limited, what do you do and where do you store it? Jerry J. Noonchester of Jerry J. Custom Kitchens has the answer to that "hot" question. Noonchester says that the valuable space on the kitchen counter can be freed with the purchase of a versatile wooden cabinet as seen in the photo above.

Utilities

Kelley also referred to a statement made by committee member Mary Keith Ballantine of Jackson that the gas rate increase will have little effect on homeowners due to the availability of heating subsidies. "Apparently Representative Ballantine wants her constituents to go on welfare," Kelley said. "I certainly don't think the citizens in their districts agree with the views expressed by these legislators."

"They sided with the utilities on an issue that is vital to customers, many of whom will see their gas bills increased by $500 by the end of next winter," he said. "These legislators, by their vote, have kept the matter from being debated in the entire Michigan legislature."

The Attorney General said he hopes that voters will write or phone the members of the Public Utility Committee to send them a message on their vote.

Shrubs are ideal for screening out unwanted views, and thorny varieties bar neighborhood invaders — dogs, if you will. The best deciduous (leaf-shedding) varieties offer handsome foliage in spring and summer, brilliant autumn color as the summer winds down and delicate linear traceries when they stand leafless in the winter.

Here in Michigan, lilac buds fatten and come into fragrant bloom in time to accompany the iris. Philadelphus and viburnum are especially fragrant in spring and early summer flowering. The butterfly bush (buddleia) raises sweetly scented spires May through June in lavender, white and purple.

A fast growing shrub is the sorbaria (false spirea). It sprouts creamy white plume sprays in July and August and grows up to 9 feet tall with little encouragement. Fall pruning will increase the number and size of the following year's plumes.

By careful selection of shrub material, it is possible to develop a succession of bloom, beginning with the witch hazel in February. Enjoy the sights of berries and bright colors of autumn, the red twigs of dogwood and the catkins of willow. It is a pleasant sight to contemplate, and in a short time, a joy to experience.

Motion by Doris Roe, supported by Connie Brinkerhoff, that the following teachers be granted a Voluntary Leave of Absence for the 1981-82 school year with return to active employment at the beginning of the 1982-83 school year: Margaret Mayol (West Willow Elementary) and Doris Kiken (Elwell Elementary). Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Doris Roe, supported by Dolores Temple, that Mary Ann Heiss be granted an extension of her medical leave of absence for the remainder of the 1980-82 school year. Motion carried unanimously.

The Personnel Committee presented recommendations for administrative position modifications for the 1981-82 school year. Motion by Ronald Tocco, supported by Dolores Temple, that the following administrative positions be approved for inclusion for the 1981-82 staffing:

1. Reinstatement of the eliminated junior high school assistant principalships modified to include the additional assignment of classroom teacher for two (2) teaching hours per day.

2. Reinstatement of the eliminated compensatory education supervisorship as a half-time position to be coupled with the teaching position of compensatory education consultant.

3. Reinstatement and expand that portion of the Career Development Supervisor involved with Project WORK to a 2/3 position to reflect the expansion of the project, if funded. The remaining 1/3 of the position would be assignment to Special Projects. This position would not be filled until such time as funding is assured through CETA.

4. Reinstatement of the position of Community Education on the same 2/3 basis as previous years. The remaining 1/3 of the position would be coupled with the position of I.M.C. Supervisor. The specific functions of the I.M.C. to be continued have not been defined at this point.

Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Connie Brinkerhoff, supported by Dolores Temple, to reinstate the following reassigned administrators: 1) Bruce Romant, High School Assistant Principal, 2) John Forsyth, South Jr. High Assistant Principal, 3) Rodney Hosman, North Jr. High Assistant Principal, and 4) Bruce Maslin, Compensatory Education Supervisor. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Robert Cook, supported by Doris Roe, that the regular meeting scheduled for June 8, 1981 be rescheduled to June 15 due to the fact that the Annual School Election will be held on June 8. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Ronald Tocco, supported by Robert Cook, that the regular meeting be recessed and the Board go into executive session for the purpose of discussing bargaining strategy. Motion carried unanimously. Regular meeting recessed at 9:30 p.m.

Looking at a group of real swingers!!!

Very few records for low scores were set during last week's annual Belleville Kiwanis-Rotary golf outing at Washtenaw Country Club in Ypsilanti. Nearly 100 Kiwanians, Rotarians and their friends attended the free-swinging affair that reunites old pals around a golf ball and a refreshing cold drink. Chairmen of this year's event was Kurt Atchinson and Darryl Raymond. Randy Erskine, new head professional at Washtenaw, Ted Osborne, his assistant, and Jim Gibson, club manager, combined to make the nearly 100 guests feel welcome. Pictures on this page give a good idea of the fun, grass and sand that was flying around as the gentlemen and friends cavorted around the golf course. They didn't tour the course in record low strokes or record time, but they did tour it in record fun — and that's what makes it a great outing every year. All ANP photos by Lothar Konietzko.

They look like winners

No sores were made public (at least to the newspaper) after last week's Belleville Rotary-Kiwanis sponsored golf day at Washtenaw Country Club. But this foursome — Wes Allen (from left), Dale Butler, Miles Dietrich and Norman Wood, all of Wayne Rotary — look like they won. Then again, maybe the picture was taken before they started playing.

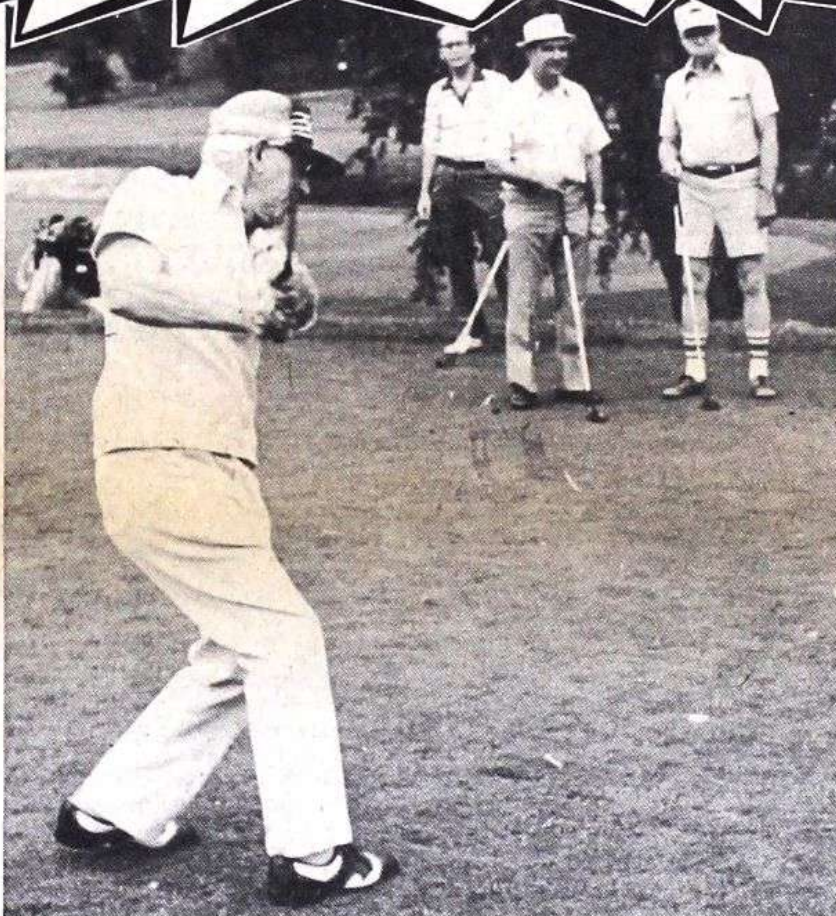

Belleville Kiwanis-Rotary Annual Golf Outing

Right down the middle

Dutch Atchinson, of the Belleville Kiwanis Club, shows his form as he blasts off from the tee in last week's golf outing at Washtenaw Country Club in Ypsilanti. Watching his form are Kurt Atchinson, Kiwanian and Co-Chairman of the annual event (from left), Dave Marsh, a guest from Ypsilanti, and Father Ray Bucon, a guest priest invited from Belleville. A prayer or two along the way doesn't hurt a bit.

Come on, lefty!

Left-handed golfers may be a little rare, but they have just as much fun belting the white ball as anyone else. Dr. John Tator proves that point as he takes a portside swipe at

"Miles, honest, it was only..."

Dale Butler (right) seems to be either trying to convince Miles Dietrich he got a bad bounce on the last hole or he's holding up the number of fingers to indicate his score.

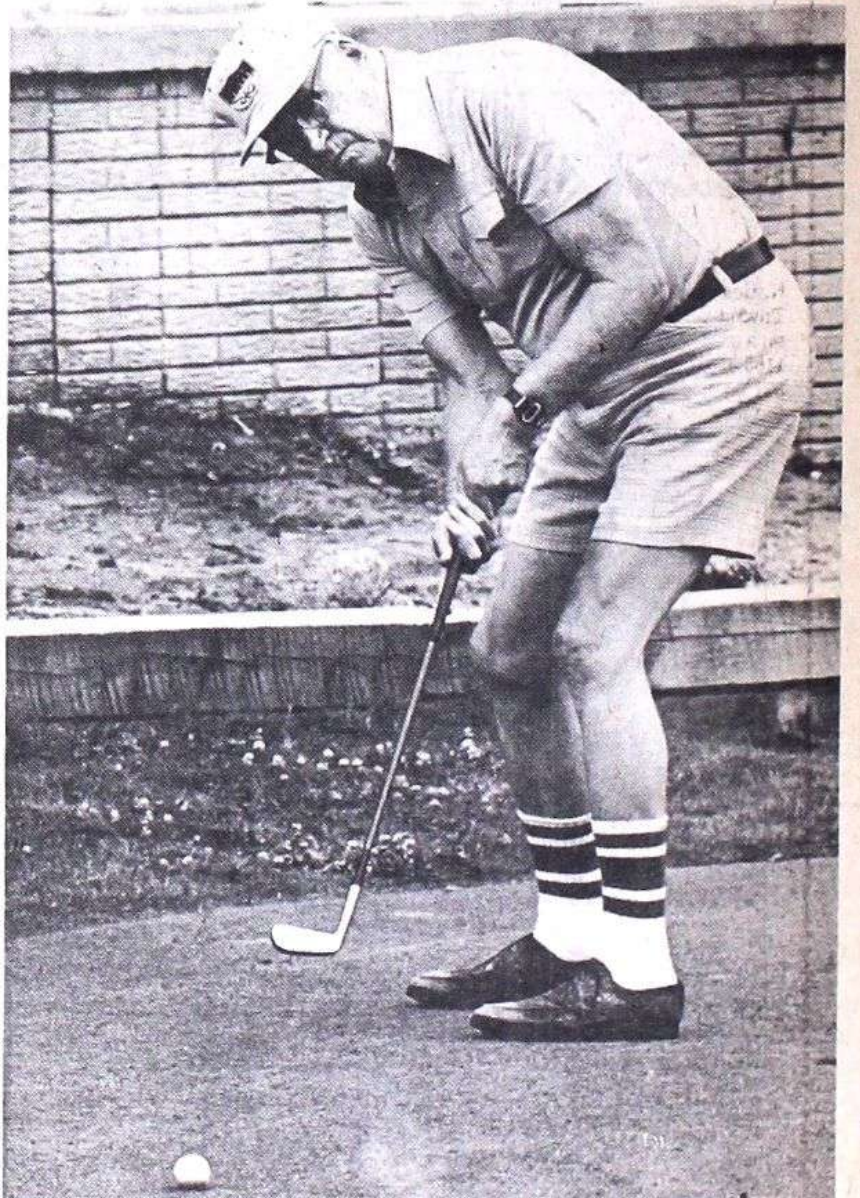

Either way, the two popular Wayne Rotarians had a lot of fun at the annual Belleville Rotary-Kiwanis golf day that ended with a Petite Filet evening dinner on June 16.

Shades of Sam Snead

Roy Pettus of Belleville Rotary Club resembles former pro golf great Samuel Jackson Snead as he drives from the first tee in the June 16 annual golf outing for Rotary and Kiwanis. Nearly 100 Rotarians, Kiwanians and their guests capped off a day of golf and fellowship with an evening dinner.

Swinging a mean putter

Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson, looking especially dapper in his Pierre Cardin matching outfit, putts on the practice green before last week's big Kiwanis-Rotary outing at Washtenaw Country Club in Ypsilanti. No scores were made public but Hizzoner was at the front of the pack when it came to being best-dressed.

Riding together

J. D. Clark (left) of Belleville Kiwanis Club seems to be enjoying his ride in the golf cart with guest Herb Shrock at last week's festive golf outing.

Double-deck brownies

Sweet Chocolate Double-Deck Brownies

- ¾ cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup sugar
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- ½ cup butter or shortening, melted
- ½ cup flaked coconut
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- 1 package (4 oz.) sweet cooking chocolate, melted

Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Gradually add sugar to eggs, beating thoroughly. Blend in butter. Add flour mixture and mix well. Pour ½ cup of batter into a small bowl; stir in coconut and almond extract. Add chocolate to remaining batter and spread evenly in greased 8-inch square pan. Drop coconut batter by teaspoonfuls over chocolate batter in pan; then spread carefully to form a thin even layer. Bake at 350° for 30 to 35 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool in pan on rack. Cut in bars or squares. Makes about 20.

Fruit Punch

- 1 cup sugar-sweetened soft drink mix, any flavor*
- 2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice or apple juice or orange juice
- 2 quarts water with ice cubes

*Or use 1 envelope unsweetened soft drink mix, any flavor, and add 1 cup sugar.

Combine all ingredients in nonmetal container, stirring until soft drink mix is dissolved. Serve in punch cups. Makes about 2½ quarts or 20 servings.

Washtenaw CC announces Dean's List

Full-time students at Washtenaw Community College, 551 of them, earned Dean's List honors for their academic performance during winter term 1981. Two-hundred ninety-six students received honors recognition for grade point averages of 3.8 or better. To be eligible for honors or high honors, students must carry a course load of at least 12 credit hours.

Those from the Belleville area receiving high honors were Barbara A. Gallup, Denise J. Garrett, Deborah A. Griffith, Laura A. Maynard, Timothy S. Melvin and James A. Morris.

Retiring teacher feted at luncheon

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
699-4021

Mrs. George (Helen) Wilson was an honored guest at a retirement luncheon given by the Belleville High School teaching staff at the Brass Belle on June 18. Mrs. Wilson has retired after teaching business education at the high school for the past 27 years.

Recent luncheon guests of Mrs. S. C. Pierman were former Belleville residents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Hedges of Leewood, Kans., their grandson, 10-year-old, Clay, from Goodland, Kans., and the former's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John (Nancy) Truxell, from Johannesburg, South Africa.

Mrs. Kenneth Ely returned home Sunday after having spent two and a half weeks with her son, Kevin Ely, at San Francisco, Calif. While there they visited the wine country in Northern California and other places of interest. Her plane fare was a Mother's Day gift from her son.

Friends, Beverly and Mildred Baker from Farmington, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevens.

Mayor and Mrs. Justin Emerson were among those who attended a dinner at Lerights in Wayne June 13 in celebration of the 50th anniversary of his graduating class from Wayne High School. Seventeen members of the class were present for the occasion.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gibeau were sorry to learn of the death of the former's mother, Mrs. Emma C. Gibeau, on June 16, at the age of 104 years. Services were held at the Querfeld Funeral Home in Dearborn on June 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Maki and 1-month-old baby, Shalan, of Elkton were weekend guests of their parents, the George Makis and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton with Eric and Amanda of Atlanta, Ga. have been guests this past week of Mrs. Clayton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Zuroff of Westland, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Graham of Potter Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Lunde enjoyed dinner with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Lunde, and grandson, Fred R. Lunde, at Livonia June 14. On Monday, the 15th, the family gathered at Knapp's for a dinner celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shephard returned home June 11, from Olwein, Iowa where they had spent several days visiting Mrs. Shephard's relatives. Enroute home they visited a cousin, Laura Werys, at Cambridge, Wis.

Mrs. B. P. (Zula) Hopson accompanied her son and wife, the Thornton Hopsons, to East Lansing June 13 where they attended graduation ceremonies at Michigan State University. Her granddaughter, Julia Hopson, was one of the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson were also in attendance at M.S.U. on Saturday when their son Richard's fiancée, Vicki Anderson of Muskegon, graduated from the School of Nursing.

Mrs. Dorothy Kellas was among the members of the Strand-Weeks Club who attended the dinner meeting Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ludwick of Romulus.

Mrs. Norman Miller Sr. spent the weekend with her son and wife, the Elmer Millers of Garden City. On Wednesday evening they were joined by her daughter, Mrs. Aileen Mengel of Ann Arbor, in celebration of their mother's birthday.

Members of Ypsilanti Chapter DAR from Belleville who attended the annual picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hopp Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McGuire of Ypsilanti on June 13 were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Seaman, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. LaMare Gress and daughter, Natalie, Mildred Artley, Mary Claire Elward and Dorothy Kellas, Regent.

Among the members of No. 054 Chapter of the National Square Dance Campers Association who spent the past weekend at PJ's Camp Ground at Stockbridge were the Edgar Quineys, Joe Reed and Lucky Shotwell of Southgate were the callers.

potpourri

By Lee Smith -- Suburban Living Editor

This is being composed on June 18 — and if you can look back a few days, you'll recall it was one of those perfect summer days with which we're blessed periodically. But as much as I love the month of June, the 18th always brings to mind the saddest day of my life.

Seven years have passed since that devastating early morning call from Florida which brought the shattering news that my Mom had died — suddenly and unexpectedly — at the prime age of 64. Never had I lost anyone closer than elderly grandparents so it was a crushing blow to find myself making arrangements for a funeral rather than her and Dad's annual summer visit.

At the time I thought I'd never recover from the excruciating pain of losing a person who was "always there" despite the fact she was well over a thousand miles away. She was "there" when I needed a sympathetic ear, an understanding mind, a complimentary remark. She had that ability even via long distance to cheer me up when I was down, to share my triumphs when I was riding high and to take me down a notch or two when I got a bit too big for those proverbial britches. NO one loves you better than your mother.

And because of that Lady's sunny disposition and optimistic outlook on life, this couldn't possibly be written with a maudlin attitude. (She'd be embarrassed.) So, rather than a latter-day obituary, it's just a little tribute to "Juliana."

I miss her . . . heaps! And it took a long time to realize that those letters I sat down to pen each Sunday no longer had a place to go. I had to break the habit of jotting down newsy items as I heard them — the kind Mom would enjoy reading about and the things I'd forget to tell her if they WEREN'T "on a list." I'd find myself thinking, "I'll have to write Mom about this"; it just happened automatically. She naturally liked word on what we were doing and how the girls were progressing but she especially enjoyed bits about her old friends from church, former clubs, the neighborhood and those who used to patronize our grocery store. She'd want to know who was ill, hospitalized, having babies and who had died so that she could get cards or notes off to them or their families.

"Juliana" was THAT kind of person. And I always said she should have been named "Pollyanna" since she always but ALWAYS saw the good in everyone. I remember saying if she ever admitted that some people were downright jerks, I'd faint. She always managed to look for the brighter side and that's what made her so special.

Those of you reading this who knew her will agree 100 percent. People LOVED her — she was fun! — and, much as her family misses her, there are many of her acquaintances who sorrow over her passing as much or more than we.

Juliana was a "Lady" and an instance which stands out in my mind was what made me realize how respected she was. A couple customers, a guy and a gal, had come into our store one day and, evidently, the fella had just told his companion a dirty joke. She was laughing raucously and said, "Oh, you've got to tell that one to Juliana." The man, I remember well, was actually embarrassed and said, "Oh, no, I can't tell her that; she's too much of a lady." What a compliment!

Her love of people almost equaled the love she gave us kids and it wasn't until I was a mother myself that I realized just how much she gave, gave, gave. It used to bewilder me that she'd take time to buy ME a new Easter outfit (complete with little white gloves, dress shoes and hat for Sunday mass) and never even buy herself a THING. And I recall, too, how she always took the smallest portion of meat or none at all (she "wasn't hungry") when she'd see how much her family was devouring.

Our begging for waffles on Sunday mornings always brought sighs of resignation. Mom HATED making those things cuz her waffle iron was so-o-o slow and it took FOREVER to feed seven people in time for church. But — we usually got our waffles!

As the oldest of her five children, I can remember how some people took advantage of her good nature and generosity. Even as a kid, it used to burn me up and as I got older (mouthier and gutsier), I'd stick up for her and try to get her to send those same freeloaders packing. But that wasn't her way and she soon let me know I just wasn't to interfere; they really weren't "that bad."

I used to do a lot of slow burns and one of 'em always occurred when someone would kid Mom about not smoking or drinking — about being a "goody-goody." I always figured them as nasty remarks whereas she merely considered them peoples' way of transferring their own guilt for doing so.

Having enjoyed a grandmother until her 88th year, it saddens me that my trio no longer has that very wonderful Grandma to see and share their accomplishments; and that little Matthew will never feel her all-encompassing arms as his mother and all the rest of us did.

She was a grand lady (and I could write PAGES) — we miss her but oh, we're so grateful for the legacy she left us — those warm, wonderful memories!

IF YOU'VE EVER dreamed of living in the White House, here're a few facts you'd want to consider before moving in. To begin with, it would cost you more than $125 million to buy the place, according to the Department of the Interior. To live in "first house" style, you would need an annual income of around $35 million before taxes.

The annual cost of cutting the rye and fescue grass and keeping up the grounds alone comes to $200,000 — half of what it would cost to build the place. (Courtesy American Legion Magazine.)

AMERICA . . . AND THE AVERAGE PERSON

The average person who reads books reads 16 of them a year and spend $36 to get them.

On an average day, two-thirds of us read a newspaper while half of us watch the news on television and the other half catch it on a radio newscast. One in four of us gets news from a magazine.

One American man in 10 suffers from hereditary blindness to shades of red and green.

The average American child gets sick three times a year.

A cigarette smoker is 10 times more likely to get lung cancer than a non-smoker and twice as likely to die prematurely from coronary heart disease.

The average family gets 97 pieces of mail from charitable or other non-profit organizations a year. Most want money.

The average baby will need about 100 diapers a week during his or her first year of life and 60 to 70 a week as she or he gets older.

Among top officials of large American corporations: eight in 10 get free physical exams and free parking places as fringe benefits. Six in 10 get a company car and stock options. Half get a luncheon-club membership and nearly half get a country club membership.

The average barber gives 12 to 17 haircuts a day, shearing each customer in 15 minutes, on average.

The Cornell survey found that the average housewife puts eight hours a day into housework. Employed wives put in 5.3 hours a day.

THE BOTTOM LINE: It's only natural that June, the month for weddings, should be followed by July, the month for fireworks.

It fits again!

What greater thrill than being able to fit into your wedding gown once again! Such was the case for Lou Goodwin (center), now 22 pounds lighter since her enrollment in Belleville TOPS, MI-380 Chapter. For the spring fashion show, Edna Mae Gregory, (left), a 30-pound loser, was attired as the mother of the bride and her own daughter, Gloria Gregory Gardner (right), having dropped 17½ pounds, came as one of the wedding guests.

Pat Dillon graduates cum laude from Yale

A 1977 Belleville High School graduate, Pat Dillon, was among the 1,236 seniors receiving degrees in commencement exercises at Yale University. A member of the class of 1981, Yale College's 280th, Pat graduated cum laude, receiving her bachelor's degree in philosophy.

In addition to maintaining a 3.5 GPA, Pat was awarded the J. Frederic Byers scholarship in both her junior and senior years for "strong citizenship and academic achievement" at Yale.

During her senior year, Pat examined techniques to study DNA repair mechanisms with a team of scientists conducting research on aging processes at the Yale Medical School. She belonged to the Yale Political Union, the Connecticut Fund for the Environment (an environmental law group which she helped to organize) and was on the staff of the Yale freshman guidebook. Further, she swam for her college intramural team and played guitar for the St. Thomas More Folk Group.

After a month's vacation at home, Pat will join the management development program at Mellon Bank, N.A. in Pittsburgh, Pa. She hopes to return to graduate school in either law or business following training in management and finance.

Five generations

Posing proudly with the newest member and fifth generation on their family tree, Garrett Douglas Eves, who was born Feb. 15 at Wyandotte General Hospital, are his mother, Kimberly Eves of Romulus; his grandfather, Donald Modzynski of Romulus and his great-grandfather, Clarence Modzynski of Alpena. For the family portrait, he was nestled in the arms of his great-great grandfather, John Modzynski of Rogers City, who is 89 years old.

Summer arts workshops for adults, children to be held in Ann Arbor

Registration is now in progress at the Ann Arbor Arts Association for summer art sessions. Workshops for adults and children will be held in two-week segments beginning the following dates: July 7, 8, 20 and 21 and August 3, 4, 17, 18. The workshops are designed for beginners as "get acquainted" sessions to an art medium and as problem study for continuing students. Some workshops are repeated throughout the eight sessions, others occur only once.

Included for adults are the following:

- Tool, Shaker and Rib Baskets — three separate basketry workshops by nationally known basketmaker, Theresa Ohio.
- Right Brain Drawing and Drawing Problems — taught by Suzanne Fauser.
- Watercolor Painting and Creative Design — will be taught by El Donna Hamel, regionally known watercolorist and glass artist.
- For advanced painters, a class to "get out of the rut" will be held confronting the problem, What To Paint When There Is Nothing To Paint.
- There are, in all, 25 workshops for adults taught by professional artist-instructors.
- Children have a special set of workshops offered throughout the session and they include: Outdoor Sketching; Puppetry; Fiber Exploration; Ceramics, Introduction To Abstract Art, and others.

For further information on all workshops, call the Ann Arbor Art Association at 994-8004.

Altar date announced

Brenda Kay Henson of 624 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor, and Gilbert Rae Thom of Ann Arbor are engaged and making plans for an August 22 wedding at Nichols Arboretum.

Miss Henson, a graduate of Albion High School, also attended Lake Superior State College in Sault Ste. Marie.

Her fiancé, the son of Andrew R. and Betty J. Thom of 368 Liberty St., Belleville, attended Belleville High School, served with the U. S. Navy and is now employed at Washenaw Bus Center in Ann Arbor.

Solt, McCash exchange vows in Ann Arbor

The United Methodist Church of Ann Arbor was the setting June 20 for the ceremony which joined Linda Marie McCash and Leonard P. Solt in holy matrimony.

The daughter of former Belleville residents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. McCash of 2918 Poplar St., Naples, Fla., and the son of The Dr. Rev. and Mrs. Leonard F. Solt of Cleveland, Ohio, spoke their nuptial vows before the bridegroom's father who presided at the four o'clock wedding.

Linda chose for her wedding day an empire gown of polyester organza over bridal taffeta. Styled with a Queen Anne neckline enhanced with Alencon lace, bishop sleeves accented with lace medallions and crystal pleated cuffs and a pleated skirt, the dress extended into a full chapel sweep train.

A Juliet cap, made of matching lace and seed pearls, secured a floor-length mantilla while a bouquet of white roses and ivy completed her bridal finery.

The quintet of bridal attendants, headed by maid of honor Julie Hone of Naples, Fla., wore gowns of pale blue floral printed organza with combs of silk flowers in their hair.

Carrying bouquets of white pomps, miniature carnations and stephanotis were Bonnie Morrison and an aunt of the bride, Lissa Bastedo, both of Naples; another aunt, Verna Bastedo of Belleville; and a cousin, Janet Walters of Ypsilanti.

Flower girl was 3-year-old Stacey Bastedo of Belleville, cousin of the bride, who wore a light blue frock ruffled at the back and carried a white basket filled with blue and white blooms. Theodore Miller of Burton, Ohio, the bridegroom's 6-year-old nephew, filled the role of ringbearer.

Best man was Paul Miller of Burton, Ohio, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Others on the esquire side were Christopher McCash and Tony Taglaris, both of Naples, and Garry Bastedo of Belleville and Larry Bastedo of Ypsilanti, uncles of the bride.

At the reception which followed at the Holiday Inn of Ann Arbor, the bride's mother received in a pale green lace and organza gown to which she pinned her corsage of mixed white flowers and roses. Identical flowers were presented to the bridegroom's mother who donned a beige ensemble for the occasion.

The new Mrs. Solt, a graduate of Lely High School in Naples, will be attending Methodist College in Fayetteville, N.C. where the newlyweds will make their home. A graduate of Canton High School in Canton, Ohio, the bridegroom is serving with the U. S. Air Force as a loadmaster at Pope Air Force Base, N.C.

The rehearsal dinner, given by the bridegroom's parents, was held at Weber's in Ann Arbor.

WOMEN

"Women and Anxiety" by Helen De Rosis. A step-by-step program to overcome your anxieties. Women today are caught in the midst of role changes as never before in history. Of course this is going to make them anxious, says Dr. DeRosis. But this anxiety can be managed and used to help women make exhilarating transitions and accept and appreciate themselves as never before.

"Women's Handbook of Independent Financial Management" BY Steven Lee. This handbook addresses the specific problems that women face as they enter the world of finance and provides no-nonsense strategies for handling any money-oriented business matter.

FICTION

"Reflex Action" by Christopher Fitzsimons. It is 12 years since Ernest Fisher defected to the West, 12 years during which he has tried to elude his past, to forget the wariness, the fear and the cunning that made him a successful secret agent for his former homeland. Twelve years in which he has gradually settled down to a quiet clerk's job, a wife, two children and a suburban life. Twelve years during which he has tried to forget the oath of vengeance he swore against his former boss. Now his old enemy is coming to Britain as his country's trade minister and Fisher abruptly realizes that he is in mortal peril, that the man Fisher swore to kill will protect himself by killing Fisher first.

"Falling in Place" by Ann Beattie. Funny and sad, satirical, this is a novel about missed connections and accidental collisions, about couples who can never say what they mean and more often say what they shouldn't.

New on the scene

Jean Louise Krizan

For the first time in the 17 years of their grandparenthood, 34th District Judge and Mrs. James B. Stone of Belleville are "thinking pink." And Jean Louise Krizan their eighth grandchild, is the reason for doing so since she is the first little girl to be added to the chain of seven grandsons.

Named for her two grandmothers, Jean Stone and Louise Krizan, the infant made her debut June 13 at Providence Hospital in Southfield. Arriving at 8:39 a.m., she weighed 6 lbs.-9 ozs. and measured 19 inches.

Her proud mother and dad, Peggy and Jim Krizan, live in Livonia and her paternal grandparents, the Jerry Krizans, make their home in Lake City.

Janet Eleanor Grudzien

The birth of their first child, a baby girl, is being announced by Mark and Eleanor Grudzien of 50022 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville.

The 8 lb.-10 oz. newcomer, who measured 21¼ inches, put in her appearance May 29 at 2:21 p.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Titled "Janet Eleanor," she is the new granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moberg of Brighton and Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Grudzien of Brookhaven, Miss.

Great-grandparent honors go to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Klimecki of Detroit and Mrs. Grace Moberg of Bradenton, Fla.

Jennifer Helen Szweda

Memorial Day, May 30, from here on in will be a double celebration for the Szwed family of 9566 Hamilton, Belleville, since that's the day Leonard and Antoinette, third child, a baby girl, arrived at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Delivery was at 9:45 a.m., and the infant weighed 7 lbs.-1 oz.

Holiday births are almost the norm for the Szwedas since their first daughter Barbara, (now 12) was born on St. Patrick's Day and their son, Christopher, six missed Labor Day by just two days.

The children's grandparents are Clem and Helen Schimelfening and Edward and Elizabeth Szweda, all of Detroit.

The Westland Festival awaits you, your family

One of the most exciting things about summer is the vast number of extravaganzas put on in various communities in Associated Newspapers; vast circulation area.

Last week it was the Strawberry Festival in Belleville that drew the largest crowds in the 5-year history of that berry event.

Next week, Westland and Romulus are the center of attention as the spotlight falls on those two communities. Romulus is wrapping up plans for its 7th annual July 4 parade and more than 50 entries are slated to march to the stirring music of bands, the color of clowns and the festive floats.

Meanwhile, Westland will stage its 10th annual Westland Summer Festival July 2-5 in a spectacular family-oriented extravaganza that draws people from all over western Wayne County.

Highlighting the 4-day series of fun-filled activities is the Miss Westland Pageant, a parade, fireworks, amusement rides, live entertainment, refreshments, bingo and casino fun, games for adults and children and a softball tournament.

Don't miss the fun. There's no better way for the family to have fun together, share in the life of the community and meet new people than in this holiday festival.

Be sure to see the Westland Eagle for your official guide to the 981 Westland Summer Festival. The insert tab lists the days, times and places of countless activities and even provides a map to show you how to get to the events.

Hats off to the Fourth of July Romulus Parade and the Westland Summer Festival. Two fine examples of the kind of community spirit and cooperation that makes living here a great experience.

Thank you, Mr. Tisch

Thank you Mr. Tisch.

And bless you Proposition 13.

If it weren't for people like Tisch, and Propositions like 13, do any of you think that the state or federal governments would be talking "tax break," "reduction of property taxes," or giving "common people" like you and me some relief.

At last, the legislators — people you and I put in office — are unning scared. They finally have realized that the more you tax people, the less they want to work. It's obvious if you and I, if we are fortunate to have a job, see more and more of our money go o Caesar, we're going to find a way to cheat, or finable some way out of the dilemma.

It's ironic, isn't it, that it's not us who are running scared anymore, but the legislators who hurriedly are serving up proposal after proposal to cut taxes.

And the only way out of this dreary economy is a substantial tax break. We hope the people on the Hill panic. We hope they realize that it is time to live within their budget — like all of us.

It is simple arithmetic that if you make less than you spend eventually you go bankrupt.

And the county had to learn that basic fact the hard way.

Ask Coleman Young how he feels about the $500 million — that's a half of billion dollars — deficit he is asking his residents to rescue him and his administration from.

The federal deficit?

Let's forget it.

But obviously we can't.

Gentlemen, let's start living within our means.

Seniors say racism article was not factual

By CHESTER WELLS

The Commission On Aging strongly ejected the report of racial troubles with regard to the senior citizens of Inkster; or any misuse of assigned automobiles, buses, or the like, in their regular meeting Thursday, June 18, 1981 at 10 a.m.

In a call meeting at 3:00 p.m. Monday was resolved by the representatives resent that, "With reference to the front page statement appearing in the last week issue of The Ledger-Star, we declare that by the best of our knowledge racial problems do not exist in the various senior citizens' clubs, or the organizations within the City of Inkster, and we deeply resent the damage done to the structure of the senior citizens' program by these insinuations.

We, the undersigned, fully endorse the comprehensive program as headed by Miss Marjorie Frazier.

"Inkster Commission On Aging and the majority of clubs as consulted."

In the Commission On Aging meeting the charge of racism was characterized as "a personality clash." Therefore in the not too distant future another call meeting will be announced; at which meeting the managing editor of Associated Newspapers has promised to be present, and the presence of some, if not all, of the City Council personnel will be requested. Of course, the mayor is most cordially welcome to attend as the writer gathered.

Memories of Father's Day past

On a Florida night in January of sixty-seven Dad's ticker, as he called it, stopped. He knew he had heart trouble but after seeing the doctor he would assure us kids that the doctor said, "My heart will last me as long as I live."

Dad left a legacy of "sayings." He especially liked those that sounded logical but said nothing, or those that contradicted themselves. Certainly they were not all original but they became a part of his character.

He had other things to say about living and dying. He was quite serious when he said, "There are a lot of things worse than dying. One of them is being half dead."

He might explain to someone concerning the death of an acquaintance, "There are people dying every day who never died before."

Concerning his own health when asked by a friend, "How are you Ernie?" Dad would reply, "If I was any better I'd have to change doctors."

He might describe a tough character as someone who would "Burn a barn for five and kill a man for ten." For someone who lived beyond their means, "He has a champagne appetite on a beer income." A person who didn't pay their bills was, "About as good as a brick watch."

He often proposed a problem for us kids to solve: "If a clock runs eight days without winding, how long will it run if you wind it?" Whenever he sent one of us on an errand he would admonish us to, "Take your time going but hurry back."

Food generated a set of sayings. If a guest refused a second helping, Dad would ask, "Isn't it good or don't you like it?" We never heard a snappy comeback to that one.

When any of us kids complained about the meat being tough Dad would explain, "It would be a lot tougher if you didn't have any." That one came to light during the Great Depression of the thirties as did Dad's remark that, "We don't care about expenses. We've got a lot of 'em."

One of Dad's favorite foods was cheese and for fear that relatives would think he was overdoing on it, he would explain, "I never eat cheese unless I'm alone or with somebody."

His antipathy for puffed wheat and rice was expressed by, "You can't eat it fast enough to keep from starving to death." If he was helping to get dinner on the table he would call out when it was ready, "Come and get it before we throw it out."

Dad often washed dishes and one of us kids would dry. If we complained that a dish wasn't washed clean, he would lecture us with, "It's a poor dishwasher that can't get some of the dirt off."

When Dad made an error he would excuse it with, "That's the first mistake I ever made."

If someone was a bit depressed Dad would advise, "Keep your chin up, both of them." It seemed to help in spite of the inference.

The editor of our local paper was Stanley Stone. Dad would introduce him as, "The man with the hard name." You could see the other party let that one bounce a couple of times before the perplexity changed to smiles.

Dad was a member of the city council and police commissioner. The first policeman our town ever had was hired by Dad, one William Buck. Dad called him Dollar Bill because "he's one Buck."

Grandma had a close friend by the name of Ella Pease. When Ella married a William Green, Dad would always refer to Ella by both her maiden and married names. Grandma wanted to both snicker and show disgust. She didn't handle it well as Dad was aware.

I never heard Dad swear but he came close to it when he would scold some profane customer in his store.

"Stop your damned swearing," Dad would say. "It wounds like hell."

The 'bad apples' of society

Over the past several months, I've noticed that when crimes have been committed, there is an apologetic tone in the articles in the newspapers coming from the police officers in describing incidents which have occurred and their involvement in the case.

Putting the proverbial "Bad Apples" behind us — in dealing with the human element, there are always "Bad Apples" in any phase of life. I feel that the Police Department, as a unit, and Police Officers, individually, have nothing to apologize for as they carry out their various duties.

Although many officers may not realize it, they are ministers of God for good. Every person on earth is to be subject unto the higher powers because there is no power except from God. The powers that be are ordained of God. God, Himself, says that "Whoever resists the power, resists the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receive damnation to themselves."

Why county is broke

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

What Wayne County should do to cut its deficit is to hire a detective.

And may we suggest Lt. William Whitworth, who heads the Investigation Bureau at the Wayne Police Department?

Lt. Whitworth feels he can save the county, which is mired in $18 million in red ink, some money. Listen to his monologue and draw your own conclusions.

"What happens now," said Lt. Whitworth, "is that when we arrest a suspect and he — or she — is bound over to Circuit Court in Detroit, we must transport that suspect to Detroit."

"And, because the jail there is usually crowded, the subject is then transported to the facility located in the Wayne County General Hospital complex — about a half-mile away from here."

Lt. Whitworth continues: "When our trial or examination date comes around, when we have to have that subject in the 29th District Court — and this procedure is not only for us but probably for Inkster and Westland and other area departments — we must go all the way to Detroit to pick up the subject."

"In the meantime, the county dispatches a car to Westland, picks up the prisoner and drives him back to Detroit to hand him over to us. Interesting isn't it?"

Lt. Whitworth pointed out that for some reason, for record-keeping or just past experience, local law enforcement agencies must pick up their prisoners in Detroit. We take custody of the prisoners, bring them back out here to the courtroom and if he isn't released on bond we must take them all the way back into Detroit instead of driving a half-mile to the Westland facility.

"That's ridiculous, isn't it?" Whitworth stressed. "One of our officers asked the people down in Detroit, 'Why don't you just let us pick up the prisoner in Westland?' and the reply he got is — 'We can't let you do that.'"

Whitworth said that the "time lost, mileage, gasoline, wear and tear on vehicles and tying up usually two officers to pick up the subject adds up in dollars and cents. It is an enigma why the practice hasn't been stopped."

"I hope you don't get me into trouble for printing this thing," he sighed.

Trouble? Hell, Lieutenant, they should give you a commendation for being brave enough to speak out and tell us just how foolishly our money is being spent.

After all, we — the taxpayers — have to swallow that bitter pill of paying for all of this nonsense.

Vietnam and our Civil War

EDITOR—The rash of letters pertaining to the Vietnam controversy prompted me to write this letter. And I have only one question I would like to ask:

"How many Vietnamese citizens fought in our Civil War?"

I think that many Americans should have fought and died over there in Vietnam.

Victory Park is a loser

EDITOR—It's summertime, and you'd think that the parts would be ready for residents to enjoy. Unfortunately, that is not the case here in Belleville at "Victory Park".

I realize that this park is owned and operated from funds provided by the Wayne County, and the debt they're mired in probably has led to the shabby conditions of this park.

But we citizens have to pay in the long run.

I also realize there's some sort of power struggle going on for the local municipality, Belleville, to own the park. Maybe that would solve some of the problems.

In the meantime, I took my brother to the park the other day and there were no swings, no teeter-totters, no baby swings for him to play on. And they call this a park?

If the children can't play in the park during the summer, then please, sir, when? You hear so much about vandalism these days, could it be because the kids don't have anything else or anywhere else to go?

On county's law & order

EDITOR—I am writing in deep respect for the law.

I live in Wayne County and I have no protection. Without our Sheriffs we can kiss this following year or any other good-bye.

The Wayne County Commissioners are cutting funds. If they cut funds on law control, they may as well forget cutting funds on anything for the people's benefit.

The local police simply cannot handle the whole county. And an emergency crew stuck in one spot certainly isn't much protection for the people.

The laws reputation will suffer for this and its not even their fault. Worse yet the victims of uncontrolled crime.

If law enforcement is to be continually cut and executed, this will not be a safe county for the honest man or the criminal. If they do not keep our Sheriffs on the road they are looking for a free-for-all and that's exactly what they will get.

The residents of Wayne County have a right to vote on this and should be allowed to.

Foster homes and communities

EDITOR—We would like to thank the residents of Wayne for giving your neighbors, Westland, and Westland Council members support on the controversial issue of Adult Foster Homes.

Romulus clean up was great

EDITOR—I would like to thank everyone who helped with the spring clean-up campaign sponsored by the Romulus Beautification Committee.

Hopefully, this activity encourages and instills pride in our community in both the workers and in others who see us making an effort to make Romulus a nicer community.

Children from the elementary schools did a great job removing litter from the streets through town. We picked up 500 bags of litter. We ended at Kennedy Park where McDonalds was waiting to provide free lunch. Thank you, McDonalds! A thank you to the children and the parent volunteers. A very special thank-you to Jean Voight who organized all the scout troops in the city. Each troop chose an area in the city to clean. Every scout was given a certificate of appreciation signed by the Mayor.

Again thanks to everyone who helped make this year's clean-up a success. We all would appreciate it if in the future everyone would "Can-it", so we can continue to have pride in our community.

We would also like everyone to take note of all the marigolds around the city. As you know, this is our city flower. A great big thank you to the senior citizens, especially Mr. David Reese, who planted them and to Blocks Greenhouse for donating them.

Resident lauds city council

EDITOR—We would like to commend and thank the Westland City Council for its stand, taken at the City Council meeting Monday, June 15th, on the Adult Foster Care Homes.

But, we would like all the citizens of Westland to know that the war has not been won because of this stand.

It just means the City has bought us time while we, the private citizens must get out and work for a cleanup of a very messy system that is costing millions of our tax dollars, for something we don't understand, and don't want in its present form.

We urge every citizen to obtain, read, and promote the passage of Senate Bills 12, 13, 14, and 15, which would return "home rule" in regards to these foster care homes back to the local governing bodies. We urge letters being written to our elected representatives in Lansing to let them know that it is time that they listened to us.

A lot of good people in Westland have been working hard to gather and pass on information because we like our neighborhoods and our city, and we want to keep it that way. Each person, in his or her own way, has made, and is still making, it their concern to get something done about this good idea that has "run amok." Anyone who wishes to receive or give information is free to call us at 721-7203.

Kind words were very helpful

EDITOR—We would like to thank our relatives, friends and neighbors for the wonderful help, strength and support we received following the sudden and tragic death of our son and brother, Randal Klukowski.

Vietnam issue draws debate

Editor - I do not agree with R. E. Utley that debating Vietnam in the press is childish. The exchange can educate people, if it provides hard facts and sound logic.

However, Utley's letters do not fill that bill. It's hard to see how he dares call for "mature and in-depth discussion". His first letter was no model of intellectual discourse, containing few alleged facts (all undocumented, mostly vague, and some demonstrably untrue); an outrageous burst of unprovoked personal insults against me; and much self-congratulation on being a macho fighting man.

Mr. Utley, I've already expressed my respect for your courage. But courage is not the same as knowledge. Despite your denials, your first letter reeked with contempt for books and those who read them. Experience, you say, is the best teacher. The best teacher of what, Mr.

Utley? If the issue were tactical operations in rice paddies, I'd hang on your every word. But the issues I raised were political, social and strategic, so combat experience to no more relevant than pinocchio experience. My experience reading Vietnamese newspapers and talking to Vietnamese people is more valuable, for understanding them, than shooting at them is.

Most of your testimony is discredited by your own words. Since experience is your only teacher, your evidence is valid only for those events you personally witnessed in 1968-69. In effect, you admit knowing nothing about anything before or after your tour.

You suggest asking "real combat vets". I have questioned many, Mr. Utley. You'd be astonished how many disagree with you, especially officers and NCO's who served multiple tours or advised South Vietnamese troops (ARVN).

What most offended me was your slander of ARVN. Accusing them of cowardice is the stock American excuse for our own treachery.

It won't wash. Lt. Col. Robert Molinelli, who witnessed the Laos incursion, describes ARVN heroism against enormous odds. He concedes they were poorly led and ineffective on his 1965 tour but calls them "impressive" in 1971.

Australian cameraman Neil Davis (who filmed ARVN in battle for years) attests their gallantry. The enemy told him ARVN was more dangerous to them than Americans were.

In 1975 at Xuan Loc, just over one ARVN division stopped five of North Vietnam's best divisions cold for a week, until their air force ran out of cluster bomb units (so much for the adequacy of American aid!).

An advisor told me how an ARVN infantry squad attacked three enemy tanks, destroying one, capturing one and chasing the other one one foot. Cowards? Ha!

I also knew an officer who commanded a fire base. The U.S. infantry "protecting" it ran from the enemy, and his gunners had to use beehive rounds at point-blank range to save the base. All armies have low moments. It's unfair to condemn a whole army to contempt, and a nation to death, for that.

As for "veteran's wife", her poem is clever. It is also contemptible -- a vicious, abusive, cowardly stab in the back. At least Utley signs his name.

She is a pretty good writer. Alas she seems to read poorly. Once more, for those too dense to grasp my other letters, I am just as much a Vietnam veteran/eyewitness as Utley. I saw combat -- not much, but more than this pompous poetess did. The difference is, I have not allowed "being there" to remain my only source of information.

I can understand why I bore her. Rational argument and attention to detail often bore those unaccustomed to working with such commodities.

I did not get sore because Utley disagreed with me. I got sore because he attacked my character without provocation. That's also why I'm sore at the poetess.

I hope readers will recognize the absurdity of this woman, who is neither a veteran nor a scholar of Vietnam, calling me ignorant.

(The savage attacks on me remind me of the blind hatred directed at the Vietnamese people by many Americans I knew there. Such prejudice helps explain why so many Vietnam vets are unreliable sources of information on that country.)

In short, being a combat veteran entitles one to talk only about combat. It does not make one an expert on politics, society or even strategy.

Being a combat veteran's wife makes one an expert on exactly nothing.

Just Break Their Moral Fiber

The enemy is winning Against Democracy.
Guns, planes, and tanks
Are no necessity.

How foolish to engage in war
To kill the mighty foe.
Just break their moral fiber
So their culture cannot grow.

Take away their sense of right.
Confuse their aim and goals.
Convince them that it's useless
To go voting at the polls.

Disguise their art with acid rock
And psychedelic craze.
Keep them in a stupor
With a marijuana haze.

Lossen all their family ties
And let them do their thing.
Anything that pleases them
Will justify a fling.

Disregard authority
And emphasize free will.
Let emotion be their guide
Leaving reason standing still.

Pollute their English grammar
With profane and careless terms,
To allow the scourge of ignorance
To spread its social germs.

Let sex and violence entertain
Without a compromise,
Till every human act of lust
Could never bring surprise.

How foolish to do battle
When a Nationa you can win.
Then open and walk in.

Reflections

Birds, bees and a pink cloud

Not too long ago my little granddaughter came bounding in the house and threw herself into my arms. With bubbling ecstasy she told me that one of her mama's friends had just had two babies "and now her tummy is popped. How did those babies get in there, Grandma?" she asked, with her head tilted upward and her huge blue eyes pinned to mine.

So naturally I told her the beautiful story about the little pink cloud, and the angel doing his bit with mama's heart and the poppy seed. She didn't act as if she really believed me, but she nodded solemnly and went on out to play.

I looked out of the window... into yesterday, when I was a little girl just five years old.

Sometime before the day I was remembering, I had noticed the little bulge sticking out the flowers on my mother's pink gingham dress, and being a curious little kid, I wanted to know why.

My mother took me by the hand and led me out to the grape arbor where she sat me on a white bench and admonished my sister to run and play.

Then, she turned to me and put her arms around me, and with the fragrance from the honeysuckle vine on the porch and her "Apple Blossom" perfume enveloping me she told me the story of the 'birds and bees.'

I was pretty fascinated with that story, but somehow I was more fascinated with watching my little sister running around and around the grape arbor, sucking in her lips under her teeth and making like a gopher every time she passed the opening closest to me.

I sucked in my lips and tried to make like a gopher, too, but my mother didn't think it was funny, especially when she had just gotten to the part about how all babies are beautiful and a gopher-faced kid didn't fit into that image.

After she had gotten the story of the birth pushed into my imagination, she gave me a little hug and told me never, ever tell any of my friends about how babies got here. Naturally I realized how solemn the moment was and I promised I wouldn't. And I really didn't intend to.

But the very next day the kid who sat on the peanut butter pail next to mine in the cloakroom, which was serving as a reading room, told me his mother had just had a baby. I giggled and giggled and fell off my pail, so excited was I over the fact that I knew something he didn't know.

All day it went like that. Everyone was talking about the kid's new baby brother, and all day I giggled and giggled because I knew something no one else knew.

And I paid attention to my mother. I didn't tell, until about 3 o'clock, when the secret just got too big, and by the time school was out every kid in that class knew where babies came from.

And they were all overwhelmed, especially when I told them that the poppy seed was always carried from God in a peanut butter pail.

Who'll protect families from the families

There's a group in Tucson who are packing for a trip to Heaven, scheduled this June 28, they say.

Whatever the mode of transportation, I hope Senators Laxalt and Jepsen and Rep. Albert Lee Smith Jr. are aboard.

No, they probably wouldn't go anyway, since they obviously think there is a Heaven right here on earth.

The three "gentlemen" are pushing the 1981 Family Protection Bill.

What the bill is supposed to do is protect the family from the government.

You see, families, by virtue of being "families," are good and wonderful and perfectly capable of taking care of themselves.

So this bill, by virtue of being a bill, "would cause the government to cease and desist from interfering with spouses who want to show their respective spouses who's boss, and from interfering with parents who want to "spank" their children, and from interfering with those who don't want their kids to find out about contraceptives and abortion and venereal diseases.

If their bill passes, it would also take care of Title IX (which forbids discrimination on the basis of sex in educational programs or activities which receive federal funds), by "giving authority back to local schools to decide whether there should be 'sex-intermingling' in sports or other activities." (I'm not sure what that has to do with family protection, but there it is.)

The proposed bill would do all of the above—and more. It would also "prevent federal funds from being used to promote educational material that denigrates the role of women as it has been historically understood."

I don't understand. What is the historically understood role of women?

Are they daughters, wives, mothers, grandmothers? Sometimes. So are men sons, husbands, fathers and grandfathers. So what?

Senator Jepsen says, "We should appreciate the role of women as mother and homemaker, which has been rather downplayed and ridiculed." Further, he says, "Nothing is more beautiful than a mother."

Is he kidding? (Not to ridicule, of course.)

I've seen plenty of mothers who are hardly what I would call "beautiful."

I've seen mothers who have beaten their kids black and blue, who have called their kids "stupid" so often the kids finally get to believing it—I even knew a mother who tied her son to a tree and made him bark like a dog because he acted like one by wetting his little britches.

Thank God I didn't know the mother who allowed her sons to be abused so badly they could do nothing but sit in the sandbox all day and hold their heads. They couldn't even play.

The family is beautiful. Heaven on Earth.

Not that there aren't plenty of good parents whose neighbors have never had to ask the government to interfere—but for every two of them there are two more who can't or won't do the job right. Where have those three "gentlemen" been?

Isn't it only fair to insist that if they are going to propose a bill like the one they're proposing, they really should be living in the real world?

Hasn't anyone ever told them that there are certain spouses who get their jollies from beating on the people who live in their household?

Don't they know that one person's "spanking" is another person's beating?

... It's just a joke. Isn't it?

CHILDREN LOVE

IAN A. GRASSAM, D.C.

Chiropractic

And I . . . LOVE CHILDREN

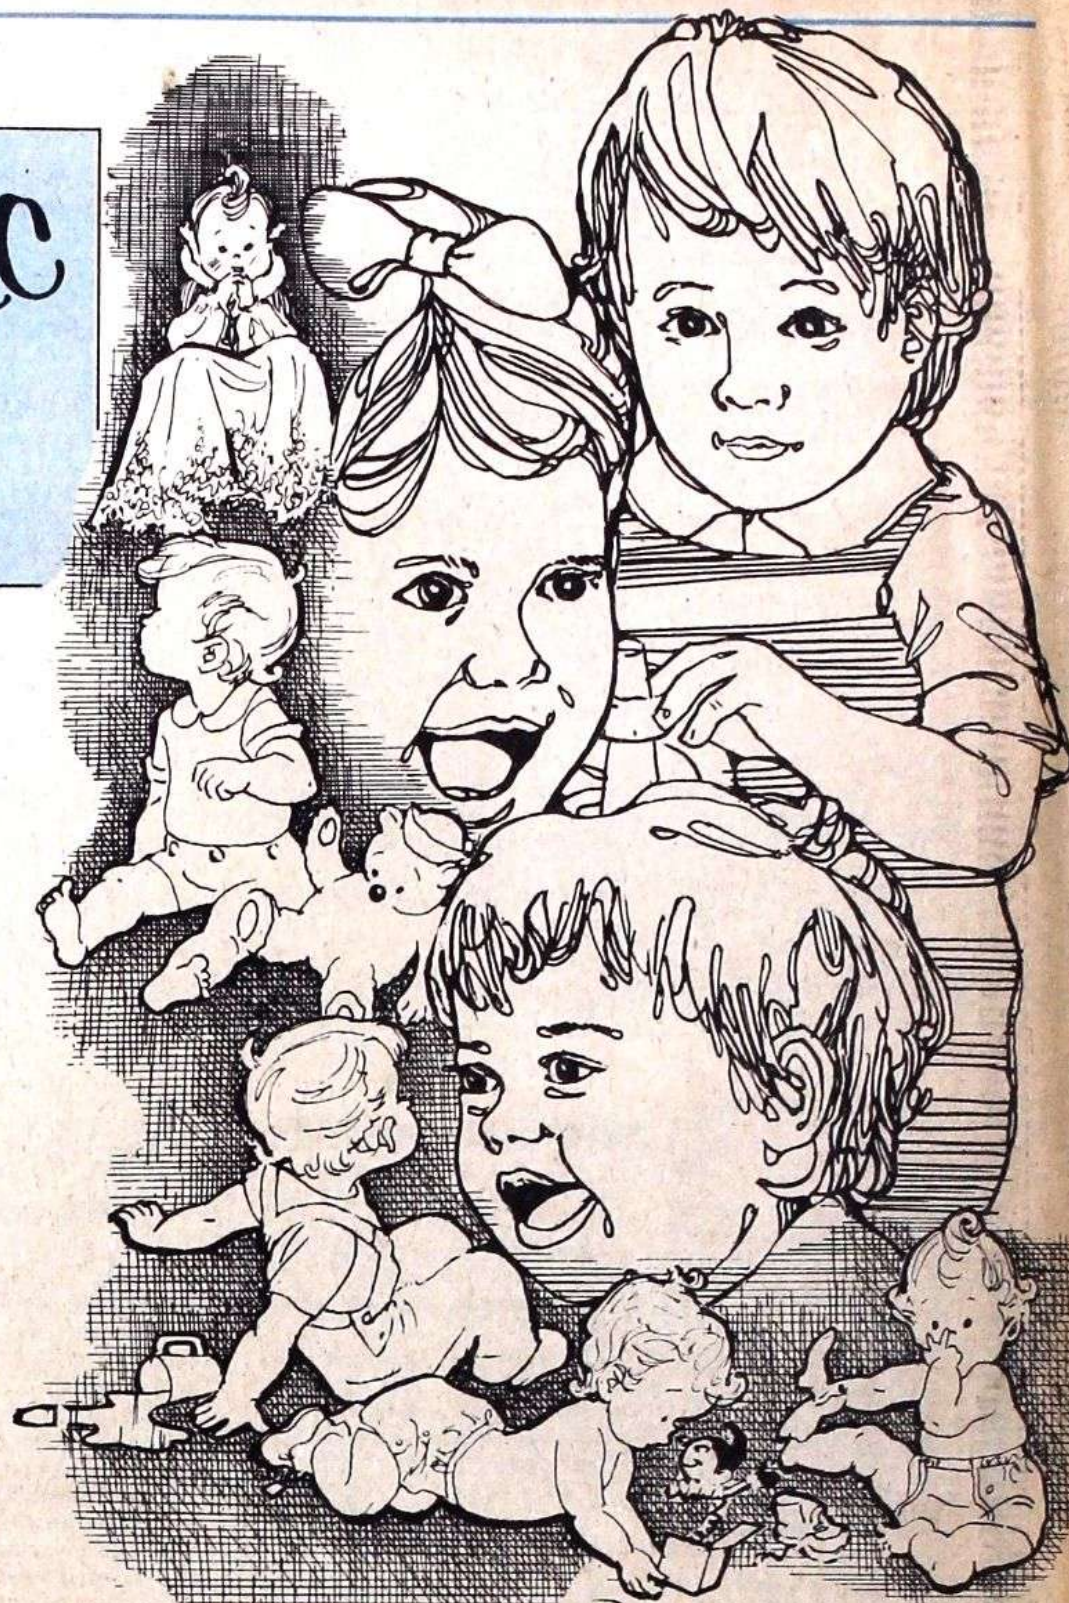

Ask any doctor of chiropractic and he will tell you that children are among his favorite patients, and there are good reasons for this. First of all the children are delighted when they discover that adjustments do not hurt and there are no long needles or bitter medicines to take. Usually after their first visit they are eager to jump up on the table for their 'jusment.' Secondly, the children's response to chiropractic is often amazing. It is commonplace in a chiropractor's office to see a child feeling and acting much better, minutes after his first adjustment, usually to the amazement of his happy parents. In fact, chiropractic doctors themselves are often very surprised when seeing a child feeling and acting much better, so fast. This is true with minor illnesses such as colds, flu, constipation, mumps, measles, rashes as well as the more serious conditions such as arthritis, polio, asthma, heart disease, allergies etc.

Children love chiropractic and chiropractors love children patients. The chiropractor works with the power of life and health that is in each of us. This life power flows over the nerves much as electricity flows over wires. When the power of life is blocked off in the spine there is a lack of life in some part of the body. This causes disharmony and the result is disease. The chiropractor's sole job is to find the blocked nerves in the spine and correct the blockage so that his life power can restore health.

Quite often several adjustments are needed in adults before the life power can do enough work to give the patient results. Children, on the other hand, are so "full of life," their bodies young and simple, their minds free from depressing worries and fears that they usually respond much more quickly and easily to chiropractic care.

Very often chiropractors see chronic illness and disease in adults that originated as some minor complaint in childhood. Many such conditions could be prevented if the parents would take advantage of early chiropractic care. Join the many modern mothers and fathers who are insuring their child's future health through chiropractic. The youngsters love chiropractic. The future of the world lies in the heads, hands, hearts, and health of today's children.

KEEP THAT HEALTHY HAPPY FEELING

CHILDREN LOVE CHIROPRACTIC

No one seems to put good health to such good use as do children. Smiling, laughing faces, busy hands, bright clear skin, playful voices, sparkling eyes, active little bodies and growing appetites all express that healthy, happy feeling that only children can express in such great abundance.

On the other hand, who is more pathetic than an ill or sickly child? Most everyone would rather endure pain themselves than to watch a child suffer. And the children themselves, dislike sickness most of all. They have no time for illness with so much to do, so much to learn, so much to see.

A Patients Story:

I had Pneumonia 13 times

I am asthmatic, and used to need six injections a week. I had to use the inhaler every day. If I played too hard I'd have an asthma attack.

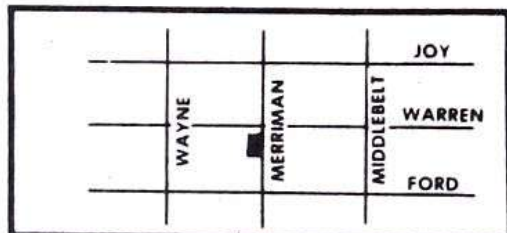

I had pneumonia 13 times, and several times a year my folks had to rush me to emergency.

Fortunately, my mom got a job working for Dr. Grassam and she began bringing me in for adjustments. Now I hardly ever have an asthma attack and I don't need any medication. I can play and do anything I want.

I only wish we hadn't waited so long!

Senseless murders dominate screen

Could 'new' horror movies be hazardous?

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Been to the movies lately?
Film buffs will find it difficult to avoid the horror genre sweeping the motion picture industry these days. Not horror as in "scary" but horror as in "butchery."

Jilted lovers carry out bloody executions. Movie star fans plot hideous acts. Students lose their lives at the high school prom. And all in living color.

Nobody's safe anymore. Consider the promotional description of the recent "Happy Birthday to Me," a cinematic gem promising "six of the most bizarre murders you will ever see":

"John will never eat shish kebab again. Steven will never ride a motorcycle again. Greg will never lift weights again. Who's killing Crawford High's snobbish top ten? At the rate they're going there will be no one left for Virginia's birthday party...alive."

An accompanying photo reveals a youth being force fed with a skewer.

Guaranteed indigestion.

But why the big deal about some senseless murders? After all, this new wave of screen gore will most likely pass as soon as its box office appeal wanes. And this type of murder spectacular doesn't have much affect on the audience outside of a few scares.

Or does it?

Psychologists and educators can neither prove nor disprove the view that such cinematic "entertainment" can and does have an unhealthy impact on the mind.

One psychologist concerned with the movie industry's casual depiction of grizzly murders is Barry Mullinix, department chairman of the school psychology program in the Wayne-Westland School District.

"It's hard to make a direct link from what one sees to behavior," Mullinix admitted, "Personally, I can't help but believe that seeing some of this horror and violence can influence people with aggressive tendencies in this direction anyway."

An educator for the past 15 years in the Wayne-Westland District, Mullinix does not subscribe to the theory that people will commit crimes if they so desire, regardless of what they view on the screen.

"Movies are a multi-sensory medium," he explained. "There's no other medium that can present a murder, for example, as realistically as a movie. The only way to witness it more realistically would be to see the act itself."

"Children talk a lot about television programs and movies," he continued. "You can see how impressionable they are. I'm not sure if the amount of effect these shows have could be proven, but there must be some effect."

Of course, times have changed in the world of horror. Fright is conveyed in a much more graphic manner.

Chainsaw Massacre: sign of the times.

"Horror movies aren't new," said Mullinix. "I remember seeing Frankenstein as a kid and being scared to death. But that was far removed from reality — you could disassociate yourself from that type of scare because it didn't happen in the real world."

"Now the movie makers are depicting ordinary people—mothers, fathers, friends—being maimed by crazy people. That kind of fright is more difficult to put into perspective. That's troubling."

We agree. And another point of concern is the pleasure that the audience can get from such film fare. Especially when the persons being killed are the snobs, goons or general "bad guys." The same people who one gets angry with for their behavior.

But anger is an acceptable form of emotion in our society. Bizarre butchery is not.

Fortunately, the motion picture industry's rating system prohibits children from seeing many of these films without an accompanying adult. These adults, hopefully, will think twice about permitting their youngsters to attend the latest "Murder Extravaganza." Hopefully.

Pro Frisbee team to perform

The Jammers, a professional Frisbee demonstration team from Lakewood, Ohio, will present a three-day demonstration and contest at Wonderland Center, June 26, 27 and 28 at 1, 3 and 5 P.M. daily.

The team has been featured on the Challenge of the Sexes, CBS Youth Invitational Tournament, To Tell the Truth, and CBS Sports Spectacular.

The action promises to be exciting, especially freestyle — acrobatic and tumbling with trick throws and catches.

There is also a comedy routine with stunt Frisbees. Each show will last twenty minutes.

The team will also ask the crowd to test their skill and win a free Flippy Flyer or flying disc by throwing at a target.

JOHN WILL NEVER EAT SHISH KEBAB AGAIN.

Steven will never ride a motorcycle again.
Greg will never lift weights again.
Who's killing Crawford High's snobbish top ten?
At the rate they're going there will be no one left for Virginia's birthday party...alive.

Blue Lake Arts Camp receives commendation

"One of Michigan's great cultural assets."

That's how Gov. William G. Milliken described Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp recently in a message commending the Western Michigan arts facility on its 15th anniversary.

"The growth of Blue Lake has been remarkable since its establishment in the summer of 1966," Gov. Milliken said in a letter to Blue Lake President Fritz Stansell.

"Today, with an enrollment of nearly 6,000 young people every year, it is among the largest summer fine arts programs in the nation, and one of Michigan's great cultural assets."

The Governor noted that in addition to its summer camp, nearly 3,000 young musicians, mostly from Michigan, have toured Europe since 1970 as part of Blue Lake's International Exchange Program and 4,000 European and Asian musicians have visited and performed in Michigan.

"The commitment made by your Community School of the Arts to offer programs to hundreds of children, youth and adults in the Whitehall-Montague and Muskegon areas is of great benefit," he said. "You are to be commended for extending your service to the Ludington area."

Blue Lake is located on a 600-acre campus in the Manistee National Forest about 15 miles north of Muskegon.

YWCA reserves choice tickets for two Meadowbrook parties

Registration is under way now for summer events offered by the YWCA of Western Wayne County in Inkster.

Choice tickets have been reserved for two Meadowbrook Music Festival parties. Sunday, June 28 features the Detroit Symphony Pops, Richard Hayman conducting, and guest artist

Jack Jones. Friday, August 21, Jazz Jamboree highlights Count Basie, his Orchestra and the Dave Brubeck Quartet. The YWCA package includes travel by chartered bus and pavillion seating. The bus departs late afternoon in time to join the pre-concert atmosphere for a lawn picnic. Tickets are $15 and $16.50.

Jazz-a-cize is also offered for six weeks Monday and-or Wednesday afternoon 3:30-4:30 beginning June 22. This time may be attractive to mothers waiting for children enrolled in the Summer Fun Days program.

For registration, call the YWCA 561-4110.

Kickboxing tournament featured

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Some call it full contact karate. Others feel more comfortable with kickboxing. Vince Varjabedian calls it "the most aggressive new sport in the United States."

Whatever the nomenclature, sports fans can judge the merits of this activity for themselves next Tuesday (June 30) at a kickboxing tournament and martial arts exhibition to be featured at the airport Holiday Inn, 31200 Industrial Expressway. Five amateur bouts are scheduled on the card with tickets priced at $20 ringside and $10 general admission.

For Varjabedian, the president of Warrior Productions, Inc., this kickboxing promotion in Romulus will mark his second venture into the sport since becoming the first promoter to bring the World Karate Association (WKA) into Michigan. The WKA and the Professional Kickboxing Association (PKA) are the organizations which regulate kickboxing across the country.

"It's (kickboxing) a unique kind of excitement," Varjabedian explains. "Kickboxing started in Thailand and has been really growing in the United States in the last three years. It combines the martial arts and boxing so it has a good market — the women's audience has been growing too."

"I'd like to start bringing in pro fights here if there's enough interest," he adds. "Right now we're trying to work out a deal to go on local television."

Featured at the Holiday Inn will be a professional exhibition match pitting Mikhail Caldwell, ranked 10th by the WKA, against Terry Burney. The amateur bouts are scheduled for the regulation three, two-minute rounds. Fighters must attempt eight kicks per round or face the loss of penalty points according to kickboxing scoring.

Among the other matches are Perry Beck vs. Thomas Mazur; Hardy Jones vs. Charles McLenedon and Jim Bayagich vs. Erick Brown.

But how does Varjabedian answer critics who claim kickboxing is much too brutal a sport?

"Sure, they draw blood sometimes but you'll see that at almost any fight, especially with pros," the promoter says. "There's a lot of excitement in the constant foot and hand action unlike boxing which often is more waltzing than hitting."

"You have to remember that about 90 percent of kickboxers started with karate and then learned boxing. They are skilled in many body techniques."

In addition to kickboxing, Tuesday's show will feature a martial arts demonstration of knife forms, samurai sword and women's self defense. Russ Hanke, a 6th degree black belt in Korean karate, will be among the instructors on hand.

Advance tickets may be purchased by contacting the Holiday Inn at 728-2800 or at the door. Gates will open at 7 p.m. with the show set for an 8 p.m. start.

Russ Hanke, a 6th degree black belt in Korean karate, will offer a martial arts demonstration as part of a kickboxing tournament promotion set next Tuesday at the airport Holiday Inn in Romulus. Five kickboxing bouts will be featured on the card with action to begin at 8 p.m.

Summer theatre activity previewed

Michiganians needn't travel to California to see Hollywood stars in person this summer since they'll be performing in Michigan theaters, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Suzanne Somers of television's "Three's Company" and Gavin MacLeod of "Love Boat" are just two of the big-name performers who will be appearing in the state.

From now to Labor Day, Michiganians can choose from hundreds of theatrical performances ranging from light-hearted musicals to comedies and dramas. The settings are just as diverse: renovated barns, open-air pavilions, historic opera houses and university playhouses.

Here are details on several popular Michigan summer theaters listed alphabetically by city:

• ADRIAN: Crowell Summer Musical Theatre, Crowell Opera House, 129 E. Maumee St., "West Side Story," "Kiss Me, Kate" and "Hello, Dolly!" each run for two weeks, Wednesdays through Sundays, in Michigan's oldest opera house. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets are $6 adults, $4 for students and senior citizens. Phone: (517) 263-5674.

• ALPENA: Thunder Bay Summer Theatre, 401 River St., "My Fair Lady," "California Suite" and "Guys and Dolls" are among five productions beginning June 19 and running through Aug. 10. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $5 adults, $3 students. Senior citizens are admitted free to dress rehearsals. (517) 354-3624.

• AUGUSTA: Barn Theatre, one mile west of town. Productions such as "Deathtrap" and "Damn Yankees" performed daily except Monday to Labor Day. Ticket prices range from $8 to $9.50. (616) 731-4121.

• COLDWATER: Tibbits Summer Theatre, 14 S. Hanchett. Historic Tibbits Opera House is the setting for five productions, including "Music Man" and "The Robber Bridegroom." The season runs July 8 to Aug. 29. Evening performances Wednesday through Saturday, matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Tickets are $7.50 adults, $5 students. (517) 278-6029 or 278-5931.

• DEARBORN: Greenfield Village Players, Henry Ford Museum, "Little Mary Sunshine" opens June 19 and runs through July 25. "Peg O' My Heart" runs Aug. 7 to Sept. 12. Tickets are $15.25 with dinner, $4.25 for performance only. (313) 271-1620, ext. 415.

• FLINT: Star Theatre, James H. Whiting Auditorium, 1241 E. Kearsley St. Nine-week season features such top-name attractions as Debbie Boone, Mitzie Gaynor, Suzanne Somers and Gavin MacLeod. Tuesday through Sunday performances run June 16 to Aug. 23. Tickets are $9.95. (313) 239-1464.

• GRAND RAPIDS: Community Circle Theatre, Circle in the Park, P.O. Box 1613. Four productions plus four children's shows are scheduled for John Ball Park pavilion. Show time is 8:30 p.m. for regular performances, 11 a.m. for children's shows. Tickets range from $4 to $5; $1 for children's performances. (616) 456-6656.

• HOLLAND: Hope Summer Repertory Theatre, DeWitt Center, Hope College. "My Fair Lady" is one of our Monday-through-Saturday productions scheduled. Two children's shows also are slated. The season runs from July 3 to Sept. 5. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $6.75 for musicals, $5.75 for non-musicals. (616) 392-1449.

• JACKSON: Clark Lake Players, Potter Center, Jackson Community College. Five-play season begins June 18 with "A Little Night Music." Curtain time is 8 p.m. for Thursday through Saturday performances. Tickets are $5 adults, $4 for students and seniors. (517) 787-7188.

• KALAMAZOO: New Vic Theatre, 134 E. Vine St. Three different Sherlock Holmes' plays will be performed on a rotating basis at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays from June to Aug. 29. Tickets are $4 on Fridays, $5 on Saturdays. (616) 381-3328. Kalamazoo College's Festival Playhouse will offer four summer productions in July and August.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Prices are $5.50 and $6.50. (616) 383-8506.

• LANSING: Civic Players, Center for the Arts, 425 E. Grand. Three productions are slated between June 25 and Aug. 22. Showtime is 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 adults, $4 for students and seniors. (517) 372-4636.

• MOUNT CLEMENS: Macomb Summer Dinner Theatre, Macomb County Community College, Garfield and Hall. "My Fair Lady" and "Sound of Music" each run for three weekends beginning June 12. Tickets are $16 for adults, $14 for students and seniors with dinner served at 7:30 p.m. Tickets for show only at $5. (313) 286-2089.

• SAUGATUCK: Red Barn Theatre, Blue Star Highway and 63rd Street. The theater's silver anniversary will be highlighted with a special two-week repertory of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas performed by the Manhattan Savoyards of New York. The season runs from June 30 to Sept. 5. Show time is 8:30 p.m. (616) 857-2105.

• TRAVERSE CITY: Cherry County Playhouse, Park Place Motor Inn, 120 State. Owner Pat Paulsen will star in a premier production of "Who Gets the Drapes." Six plays are slated beginning June 30 including Eva Marie Saint in "Elephant Man." Tickets are $5 and $6 for Thursday matinees, $8 and $9 for evening performances. (616) 947-9560.

Stained glass demonstration scheduled Sunday in Westland

George Ayars is a glassaholic. He has been in such a state for years. Ask him - he'll tell you.

Ask Ayars how he feels about glass and the excitement streams through like the light through one of his stained-glass windows. Ayars will appear at Delphi Stained Glass, 6018 N. Wayne Rd., Westland on Sunday, June 28, from 1 to 5 p.m. to demonstrate various techniques of stained glass. He will also exhibit several of his works.

Ayars has worked with stained glass since 1974. Like most people with an interest, he started making suncatchers.

From his Lansing studio,

George executes his designs for both private and public buildings. His ventures as a glass artist have run the gamut. George has done repair work, exhibited at the Battle Creek Civic Art Center in "New Directions," and has shown at craft fairs.

As a teacher he has conducted workshops in lamp construction, window making and repair work. Most recently George has begun a series of windows for the Calvary Church in Hillman, Michigan.

A legend takes final media step on the big screen

By J. T. YURKO
Special to Playmate

It is a peculiar trait of legends that they are hard to destroy, and equally as difficult to enhance.

The legend of the Lone Ranger may be one of recent America's best — the lone man trying to right wrongs and fight injustice. He rides high on the mythology of the American West, with white horse and six-gun blazing.

The new film that chronicles "The Legend of the Lone Ranger" takes the legend into its final media step, from comic books to radio show to television series, and finally to a multi-million dollar feature film.

It is a simple retelling of the tale of how the Lone Ranger adopted his mask, white horse, silver bullets, and faithful Indian friend Tonto, and then places them into a short but exciting adventure involving the President of the United States and, of course, the infamous Cavendish gang.

Like the legend itself, the movie is hard to knock, but tells us nothing new nor shows it to us in any exciting new style.

The first half of the movie we are introduced to the early lives of the Lone Ranger and Tonto, and follow their separate paths until they reunite (as everyone knows) after the rangers are ambushed by the Cavendish gang. We learn the Lone Ranger's real name (John Reid) and that he is a lawyer returning to the West to set up practice.

As a sort of reverse "Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," Reid forsakes the law book for the six-gun, and the legend is born. He also has a love interest here, a female reporter on her way to Los Angeles who gets involved in the events surrounding the birth of the masked man.

Klinton Spilsbury portrays our hero, although his voice has been dubbed in by Stacy Keach, for what reason only the producers know. Michael Horse is Tonto, and both are younger than their TV counterparts, but both fit the bill nicely.

For all its superb photography (Laslo Kovacs), fine direction, great stunts and effects, the film only swings into high gear on moments such as the first time we hear the William Tell Overture, or at the end when Jason Robards asks "Who was that masked man?"

Thus the film's ultimate appeal and survival rests on its nostalgic references, but with a legend like this, how can you miss?

Stella and Toby Cartwright (Sara Morrison Barnicle and Peter Thomson) pursue a life of leisure in "Ways and Means," one of three short plays by Noel Coward under the title of "Tonight at 8:30." The plays will be presented Wednesday through Saturday until July 4 as part of the Hilberry Summer Theatre Festival. For information and reservations contact the Wayne State University box office at 577-2972.

Holly rekindles fond memories

HOLLY & THE ITALIANS
"The Right To Be Italian" (Epic)

If you have fond memories of the golden age of female rockers a la Ronnie Spector and the Ronettes, then Holly & The Italians are the group for you.

Holly Vincent's voice is every bit as full, vibrant, and alluring as was Ronnie's on classics like "Be My Baby," "Walking In the Rain," and "Baby I Love You." But Holly is no mere imitator, and her own style quickly becomes apparent on should-be hits like "I Wanna Go Home."

Ms. Vincent wrote eight of the album's ten tunes, showing that her talents also include knowing a good hook when she hears it. "Youth Coup" is simply an amazing song, having that rare quality of being instantly memorable. It also has the potential of being a hit single in the same mold as Alice Cooper's "Eighteen," with Holly singing about youth, boredom, and just maybe the so-called Moral Majority:

"I can't watch television anymore I'm sick of reading magazines on the floor and just today a man comes to my door he wants to tell me about religion — ooh!"

One of the cuts on "The Right To Be Italian" is already an underground hit of sorts — "Tell That Girl To Shut Up" received considerable airplay last year on W4's new music show, and as a result local music shops had trouble keeping the import single in stock, and for one simple reason — it's a fantastic song.

And while this may not be a fantastic album, it's certainly a darn good one, and I recommend it highly. Hey hey, my my, rock and roll will never die. Not with bands like Holly & The Italians around.

"Start Swimming"

Live: THE BONGOS, RAYBEATS, THE d'BS, BUSH TETRAS, FLESHTONES
(Stiff)

On the surface, this appears to be a fantastic package; The Bongos, Raybeats, Fleshtones, and the d'B's are four of the very best song-oriented rock bands) America has to offer, and while the Bush Tetras aren't exactly my cup of tea, they obviously have talent. But if you judged them from what was recorded on this night in London, you'd probably never bother with any of them again.

"It was horrible, really horrible" said a member of New York's Fleshtones about the concert "Start Swimming" immortalizes on vinyl, and he summed it up pretty well. Lackluster performances (due to jet lag), coupled with terrible recorded quality drown this record before it even begins to swim.

Instead, pick up on any of these band's studio works, as all of them have either import or domestic 45's and EP's out that are really well done. But skip this one, and hope someone puts it out of its misery soon. Glub glub glub . . .

Wayne State's festival continues

Wayne State University's eleventh Summer Theatre Festival continues with the opening of "Tonight at 8:30" upstairs and "Buried Child" downstairs at the Hilberry Theatre.

"Tonight at 8:30," the Hilberry company's popular spring production, is being held over on the Hilberry's open stage, while "Buried Child," the 1979 Pulitzer Prize-winning drama, plays in the Studio Theatre. Performances are Wednesdays through Saturdays, June 24-27 and July 1-4, at 8:30 p.m.

"Tonight at 8:30," an evening of varied entertainment by the celebrated English showman Noel Coward, is a selection of three short plays from a group of ten written to make up three different evenings of entertainment. The three plays the Hilberry is presenting are "Ways and Means," a light comedy about the British upper class, "Fumed Oak," "an unpleasant comedy" about a working class family's domestic squabbles, and "Family Album," billed as "A Victorian Comedy with Music."

"Buried Child," by American playwright Sam Shepard, is a fiercely comic, haunting and frightening study of blood ties, shared secrets and American traditions, centered on the return of a long-absent grandson to his grandparents' decrepit farmhouse.

Following "Tonight at 8:30" and "Buried Child," Alan Ayckbourn's "Bedroom Farce" and Neil Simon's

"California Suite" will close the Hilberry Summer Theatre Festival.

For reservations and information contact the Wayne State University Theatre box office, Cass and Hancock, Detroit, 48202, or call 577-2972.

25 honored on 'All-Area'

These ball players could fill in for striking pros

There are about 25 young and enthusiastic high school ball players who would like nothing else to take the places of the striking Detroit Tigers.

And do you know what - these 25, hand-picked by area coaches ball players probably could step in and play semi-pro and professional baseball right now.

However, many of them are only juniors - (one's even a sophomore) and therefore won't have a chance for the pros for a couple of years.

The 25 preps this week were inducted into the Associated Newspapers' annual All-Area team, a team that has produced some of the finest baseball talent in the country.

For openers, the 1981 club has for its pitching rotation Belleville's Larry Petrowski and Sam Villa; Livonia Franklin's Brad George and Ralph Scharf and Westland John Glenn's John Paz.

With the exception of Villa, all are left-handers.

Behind the plate will be versatile Glenn's Tony Dalimonte along with Belleville's Greg Brinkerhoff and Wayne Memorial's Bill Duncan.

Drafted to handle the first base chores are Tim Filary, the only sophomore picked for the team; Belleville's Kelvin Roberts and Wayne Memorial's Gene Piscopink.

Several standouts who were flawless on defense and who batted, with one exception, over .300, were named as this year's infield. The candidates included: Greg Kancierz (John Glenn), Larry Rotter (Franklin), Todd Wallace (Romulus), Ron Peterson (Cherry Hill), Jim Little (Wayne Memorial), and Marty Knight (Romulus).

The line-up in the outfield is made up of Troy Lindon (John Glenn), Mike Taig (John Glenn), Jim Daniels (Belleville), Rich Hoth (Romulus), and Gary Mazurek (Wayne Memorial).

won-lost season, Brad appeared in 11 games and kept his ERA to 1.23. He just didn't receive the hitting support from his teammates who got off to one of their worst starts in recent years. In 51 innings of sweat, he struck out 64 batters and walked 18.

SCHARF and George accounted for nine of Franklin's 11 victories - the Patriots dropped 15 games this season. The lefthanded Scharf was impressive as he whiffed 39 in 47 2/3 innings on the mound. During that span he also amassed a 2.27 ERA.

PAZ kept Westland John Glenn in the Northwest Suburban Conference title race and helped Coach Norm Hoenes win his first conference title in 10 years. (The Westlanders were co-champs with Redford Thurston). With an ERA of 2.23, the Glenn hurler carded seven victories while losing two. He was on the mound for 68 2/3 innings and struck out 78 of the batters who faced him.

BRINKERHOFF ended an outstanding athletic career at Belleville as he batted .357, second only in the area to Romulus' Rich Hoth who finished up with a .437 average. Greg was named all-league after collecting 25 hits in 70 at bats. Of those 25 hits, seven were for extra bases. The premier backstop of the Tigers, Brinkerhoff will share the All-Area catching duties with Dalimonte and Duncan.

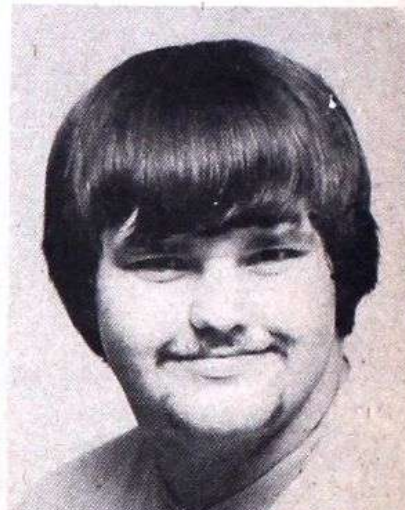

DALIMONTE, also a senior, starred in basketball and football for the Westlanders. He wrapped up his prep baseball career with a .276 batting average and a flawless record behind the plate. DUNCAN is a junior who carded a .292 batting average after lacing 14 hits in 48 appearances at the plate. An outstanding all-around athlete, Duncan brought the Spartans back from a dismal start to finish one victory under the .500 mark (11-12).

All three first basemen selected for this year's All-Area club batted over .300. ROBERTS had six extra base hits in a .346 season which included five doubles and a triple. The Belleville High senior was named to the all-conference team as a first baseman after knocking in 16 runs and scoring 11 times.

PISCOPINK, who had a pair of homers, and four doubles for 14 of his hits, also brought the curtains down to superb athletic career. He batted .311 in what was his second year on Coach Jim Chronowski's varsity club. An all-league Great Lakes 8 selection, he also played third base and pitched when not working full-time at first. He pitched and batted his team to a victory over Plymouth Canton which only lost three games during the entire season. Piscopink belted a home run in that game and also a 365-foot blast against Wyandotte.

errorless season, earned All-Area recognition for their outstanding performances.

WALLACE, who played third for Coach Dennis Stoh's Eagles at Romulus, turned in a .999 fielding average in his junior year as he successfully handled 48 chances while making only one error. Todd was among the area's leading hitters. He collected 15 hits in 62 at bats for a hefty .387 batting average.

ROTTER'S contributions to Franklin's district championship included a .311 batting average (13 hits in 61 trips) which included five extra base hits. A senior who was the Patriots' most reliable infielder, Rotter knocked in nine runs and scored 13 times in a season that climaxed with the Livonians beating one of the top teams in the state, Detroit Catholic Central, in pre-district play.

KANCLERZ earned letters in football, basketball and baseball and in his final baseball season batted an enviable .360 for Coach Hoenes' Rockets. The Rockets posted an 18-7 over-all record this year, its best showing in over a decade. Kanclerz appeared before the opposition pitchers 89 times and drilled 32 hits. He chased home 19 runs and scored 26 times. He also bagged five doubles and three triples on the season.

Before we continue, let's not forget the only sophomore who made the All-Area grade this season. Glenn's Tim Filary.

FILARY made his debut with the Rocket varsity squad with little experience but proved that he can wield a deadly bat. He batted .343 this year, established himself as one of the finest players on this championship team and wound up getting 23 hits for 67 at bats.

"We're very enthused about what this kid can become," Hoenes pointed out. "If he develops to his potential, you'll be hearing a lot about him."

PETERSON will be back in Coach Ken Mientkiewicz' line-up at Cherry Hill next year. The lanky junior third baseman cut out for himself a .374 batting average as he successfully hit 31 of his 83 times at the plate. He also knocked in 31 runs and scored 16 times.

"Ron was one of our most reliable ball players," said Coach Mientkiewicz whose Spartans had more than their share of problems this year. "We lost 12 games this year, but no one could blame Ron for his efforts."

LITTLE was selected by his teammates as Wayne's "Most Valuable Player". He also was designated as the most improved as well after batting .377 on the season. He latched on to six doubles and three triples while he walked seven times and collected 8 RBIs. Little also had 76 opportunities on defense and committed only three errors for a .961 fielding average. In league play Jim hit .310 and was beaten out for the all-league recognition by Fordson's Ross Colorossi who batted .400 on the season.

KNIGHT, a key to the Romulus pitching rotation, doubled at short when not on the mound. As an infielder, Marty contributed a .285 batting average in a 10-9 over-all season that saw the Eagles lose four games in extra innings. Knight appeared at the plate 63 times, safely hit 18 times and drove in 16 runs. He also had six doubles and two triples this season.

LINDON was a tough man to pitch to as rivals discovered. He worked them for 33 bases on balls and also managed to steal 19 bases. He appeared at the plate 70 times and drilled 22 hits, accounting for 21 RBIs. He finished his junior year with a .314 batting average.

TAIG, Lindon's teammate, batted .342 on the year which included four doubles, four triples and an area high three home runs. He batted 73 times and cracked out 25 hits, driving in 21 runs and scoring 18 times.

"Mike always came through for us when the chips were down," said Coach Hoenes. "His statistics only tell a part of the story, only a part of the contribution he has made to this championship team."

MICHNO was an all-Tri-River Conference selection after batting .363 for the Spartans who weren't a factor in the conference title chase. A junior who bats righthanded, Michno appeared at the plate 80 times and connected for 29 hits. He drove home 21 runs and scored 19 times. One of Tom's hits went the distance, and 10 others were good for extra base - three for triples.

WILLIAMSON won the hitting title at Franklin. He batted .417, which is the second best on the All-Area club, but his four round-trippers are the best by players in the area. A junior who will be around next year, Mike hammered home 26 RBI - the tops in the area - and scored 17 runs.

"Mike is an excellent all-around player," said Franklin Coach Gerry Cullin. "The thing is that we didn't have the year we expected to have, and didn't get the ink we hoped to and that's one of the reasons why few people heard about these players' accomplishments."

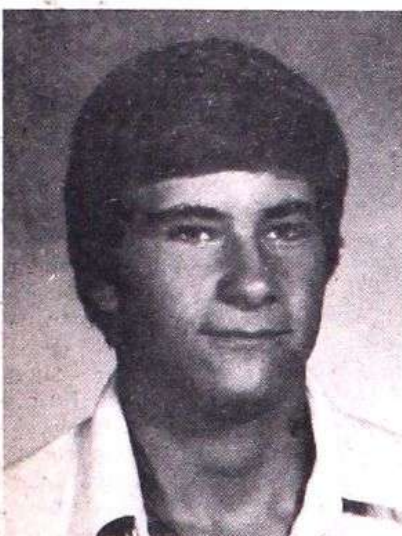

DANIELS has an excellent arm and on some days is awesome. He batted .369 for the Belleville Tigers, knocking in 11 runs and scoring an equal number of times. One of several juniors who will make life easier for Coach Fielder next season. In Fielder's rookie year, the team won the championship and with a host of holdovers the Tigers could be the team to beat in the area.

HOTH led the dream team in hitting with a stellar .437 batting average. The slugging outfielder's 28-for-64 included three doubles, four triples, 13 runs and 16 runs batting in. He comes from a long line of outstanding ballplayers and his father played professionally. "Rich is undoubtedly one of the finest baseball players ever to play in this entire area," said Coach Dennis Stoh. "His stats speak for themselves."

MAZUREK, the fleet-footed senior outfielder is an all-around sports standout at Wayne Memorial. He drilled 15 hits in 49 trips to the plate for a .306 average, scored 10 runs and stole five bases. His sharp eye enabled him to draw 11 walks for an "on-base" percentage of about .500. His speed also helped him provide defensive coverage in the outer pasture for the Zebras.

YEATS rounds out this year's All-Area baseball squad. The Livonia Franklin senior was designated hitter and showed a sharp eye in rapping 25 hits in 78 trips for a .321 average. He drove in 18 runs, crossed the plate 20 times himself, drew 14 bases on balls and stole 11 bases. "Bill was one of our most consistent hitters all year and his dedication and persistence in hard work really paid off," said his coach, Gerry Cullin.

Capt. Nemos has perfect softball team

Midway into the 1981 Romulus Parks and Recreation softball season, one team remains undefeated—Captain Nemos, the class of the men's "A" teams has stretched its winning streak to 10 games and holds a comfortable two-game cushion over its nearest challenger, Dates Son.

In an abbreviated game cut short due to the 10-run "mercy rule", the Class A leader buried Tom Tavern, 17-0. Tom's record dipped to 1-9 on the year.

Romulus Tire evened up its record to 5-5 at the expense of Savage Hitch, 11-8, while Atchinson Ford picked up a victory over the second place Dates' Sons when Tom Kilduff scored the winning run in a 13-9 triumph.

Double Eagle won a cliffhanger, 12-10, over Walter's Bar in Class B action to pad its record to 4-5 on the season, while Johnny's was busy carding its third win of the year thanks to a forfeit over Crove-Bailey's. Michigan Bell kept a half-game edge over second place Drysdale as the "B" pacesetter shut out Speedy Printing 6-0.

Drysdale's kept pace when it averted an upset, 14-9, by stopping a rallying VFW club.

Puffer Red remains the team to beat in the women's Class A division as they trounced the Progressive Club 18-4. Pat Gray scored a pair of runs and collected three hits to lead the winners.

Total Petroleum moved into a two-way for second with Progressive Club as it defeated Little Caesar's 8-2 in one of the best played games of the campaign.

In a lopsided contest, Suburban Oil overwhelmed Morgan Collision, 12-6.

The Class B title picture remains blurred as F.X. Coughlin, Jac's Lounge and Airtrans continue to fight it out for the league lead.

F.X. Coughlin has the lead, however, thanks to a 5-1 record, but Jac's (5-3) and Airtrans (4-3) are still close behind.

Linda Meadows laced three hits in four trips to the plate to lead F.X. Coughlin to an 18-1 "mercy" victory over winless and last place Dobbs, while Airtrans knocked off Jac's Lounge, 14-11, to keep the title race hot.

Glenn to hold grid camp

Westland John Glenn will hold a football camp for one week, Monday, July 20 through Friday, July 24, for players who are in the junior high and little league age group.

The camp will be conducted by the Glenn grid coaching staff, headed by varsity head coach, Chuck Gordon. Those who attend must have a physical examination or written parental permission.

There is a $10 registration fee and players are encouraged to register early either by mail or by telephone. Registration will be taken in advance by mail. Send a $10 check to Chuck Gordon, Westland John Glenn, 36105 Marquette, Westland.

Players may also register the first day of the camp at Glenn, beginning at 10 a.m.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Coach Gordon at the high school (595-2300).

Daly's remains undefeated

Like the river, the Daly Drive-In Brewers just keep onrollin' in Romulus South Little League baseball circuit.

The amazing Brewers chalked up their 20th consecutive league victory, and have piled up an enviable 25-1 won-lost record over the past two seasons.

With victories this past week, the Brewers have a 6-0 record.

But a crucial series of games this week threatens their streak. They meet the hot Mets team on Saturday, which will set up a league title showdown for the second straight year, should the Brewers win.

The Mets with a 5-2 record, have been matching the Brewers victory for victory in the past week. They are breathing down the Brewers neck.

In games this week, the Mets defeated the Cardinals 8-4 and also conquered the Phillies.

It's time to sign up for swimming

Registration is now taking place at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt, for those interested in an instructional swim program. Classes will be held at various times, with certified instructors on board. Program runs June 24 thru Sept. 4. For more information call 728-7530 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

An instructional outdoor tennis class is being offered at Inkster Recreation Complex for six weeks starting June 29. Class will be limited to eight persons for adult beginners, elementary beginners and junior beginners. For more information about cost and instructional times call 728-7532.

Inkster Parks and Recreation is sponsoring a (3-on-3) Basketball League. Cost $10 per team. Games will be played on Friday, 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. Limited to 10 teams. Trophies for first and second place. For more information call 562-5220 or 562-5221.

A great variety of fun activities have been planned for the Inkster Civic Arena this summer. A different program will be offered each day of the week for all ages. Some of the programs include:

Indoor Soccer Clinic—free—Tuesday and Thursday 10 a.m. until 12 noon.
Beginner Tennis Clinic—$10 for 8 weeks—Wednesday 6 p.m. until 8 p.m.
Roller Disco Contest—$1—once per week.

Playground Roller Disco—50 cents—Monday and Wednesday 12 noon until 3 p.m.

Open Roller Skating—free (skate rental 50 cents)—Wednesday 3 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Open Roller Skating—50 cents admission and 50 cents skate rental—Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday 3 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Basketball League (3-on-3)—$10 per team—Friday 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. (trophies for first and second place).

Programs will be starting soon. For more information please call Inkster Civic Arena at 562-5220 or 562-5221.

Reunited at Siena Heights

Three Belleville High School wrestlers, (from left) Dan Kelly, Fred Vera, and Walter Young, have recently signed to wrestle on the Siena Heights College team for the 1981-82 season.

Belleville matmen to continue careers at Siena Heights

Three Belleville High School wrestlers, Danny Kelly, Walter Young, and Fred Vera, have recently signed to wrestle with the Siena Heights College Saints in Adrian for the 1981-82 season. Kelly, a 1980 graduate of Belleville, transferred to Siena from the University of Wyoming in January, 1981. As a member of the Junior Olympic wrestling team that toured West Germany in 1980, Kelly won the European World Freestyle Championship. While at Belleville, he placed third in the Suburban Eight conference championships and second in the Ypsilanti tournament. Kelly is majoring in natural science at Siena. Young, a 128-pounder, was the Belleville Invitational champ this year, and was a second-time regional qualifier. During his junior year at Belleville, he was voted most improved junior on the wrestling team, and was a member of the Suburban Eight league championship team in 1980. He holds two varsity letters in wrestling. A 1981 Belleville graduate, he plans to major in metal arts. Vera, a 137-pounder, holds three varsity letters in wrestling. He was a member of the Belleville team that took third in Suburban Eight league competition in 1980 and 1981. Vera plans to major in art while at Siena, after graduating from Belleville this year. Siena Heights College is an independent, four-year, fully accredited, coeducational liberal arts institution offering associate, bachelor and master degrees in 34 programs of study. The college's students come from 30 states and 26 foreign countries. Siena was founded by the Adrian Dominican Congregation in 1919 as its first institute of higher education.

Belleville to host men's net tourney

Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees will host its Second Annual Fourth of July Weekend Tennis Tournament. The tournament will be held for men in singles division and will be run July 3, 4 and 5. Entry regulations will permit only entrants residing in Belleville and Van Buren Township to compete. Entry blanks are available at the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department located at 46425 Tyler Road. Additional information can be obtained by contacting the tournament director, Roger Suter, at 697-1361.

Westlander helps Alma to record baseball year

Bill Bardwell, a senior pitcher from Westland, was a member of the Alma College baseball team which recently completed a record-breaking season. Alma, 9-3 in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) and 23-11 overall, shared the league championship with Albion and Olivet and finished second to eventual national champion Marietta College (Ohio) in the NCAA Division III Midwest Regional Tournament. The Scots were also the winners of the four-team Aquinas invitational Tournament in May and came in second behind Division I Iowa State University in a four-team Florida tournament in March. The MIAA title was Alma's third in four years and fifth in the past nine years under head coach Bill Klenk. The four other years under Klenk's coaching the Alma Scots have finished second. Bardwell finished an outstanding career at Alma by being named first team pitcher and most valuable player in the MIAA for the second straight year. He was also the team MVP and captured the Darrell Geiling Memorial Pitching Award. The 1977 Livonia Churchill graduate was 5-1 in the league with an impressive 0.83 earned run average. Overall, the team captain was 9-3 with an ERA of 2.09; one of his wins came against Ohio Northern in the Midwest Regional Tournament. Bardwell's nine wins led the team and established a new school record. His 73 1/3 innings pitched set a record, and his 11 starting appearances tied an Alma mark. His ERA led the team as did his seven complete games and two shut-outs. For his career, the righthander set three records and tied two others. His 22 wins are a school record as are his 196 innings pitched and 2.34 ERA. Bardwell's 19 complete games and four shut-outs tied two other marks. This year's varsity award was Bardwell's fourth in baseball at Alma.

DID YOU WONDER IF YOUR HEALTH PROBLEM WAS DUE TO PINCHED NERVES?

HERE'S A CHANCE TO FIND OUT!

I've been to many doctors the last eleven years. Spent alot of time in and out of hospitals too. I tried everything until a friend of mine talked me into going to the chiropractor with her. That was a short time ago. Now four months later I'm happy to say "no more headaches and I'm really feeling great. Thanks again Dr. Adamczyk." Nancy Cooper Inkster, MI

Due to some work-related stress, I suffered Insomnia in addition to muscular pain in my left arm. Medical aid was only temporary.

A friend of mine recommended the Toftness Treatment. After the first adjustment, the pain subsided I was able to sleep more comfortably. After 10 adjustments, to my amazement, my health was greatly improved.

I have never received chiropractic treatments thinking only medical help was the answer. I was wrong, with my past experience, I would recommend the Toftness Treatment to anyone with a Health problem.

Dolores Styborski Dearborn, MI

Q. I've heard you say that chiropractors cure nothing, but I see people getting physically and mentally better in your office. What's happening?

A. In order to heal, I would have to be able to create, control and understand life. Chiropractors, hopefully, are not so egotistical. If chiropractic adjustments healed, we could raise the dead, but obviously we can't. What we do is simple to understand: we correct interference to the nervous system so that the body can function at its optimal level. The result is a body which heals itself physically and mentally. If your health returns, your body takes the credit. The chiropractor is only the mechanic who corrects the interference.

INTENSIVELY CARING

HEMATOLOGY/ONCOLOGY NURSING

Your Professional Experiences Will Be Very Intense... And Very Rewarding!

9 North is our highly regarded 32-bed Hematology/Oncology Unit at the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor. It's where you'll be involved in a very "human" area of nursing which requires special abilities and skills. As a staff member, you will join a multi-disciplinary team firmly committed to patient and family centered care, education and support.

To aid in your transition, you'll participate in orientation and special educational programs - including training for administering Chemotherapy treatments. If you're interested in this very rewarding career opportunity, please call collect or write:
